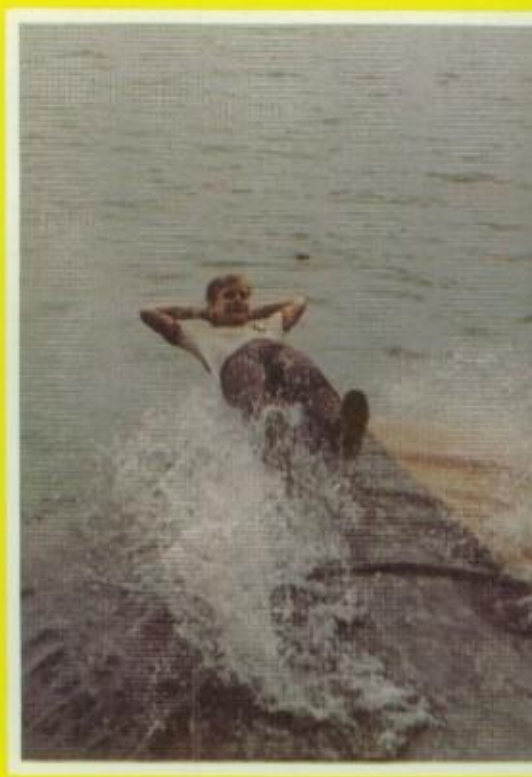
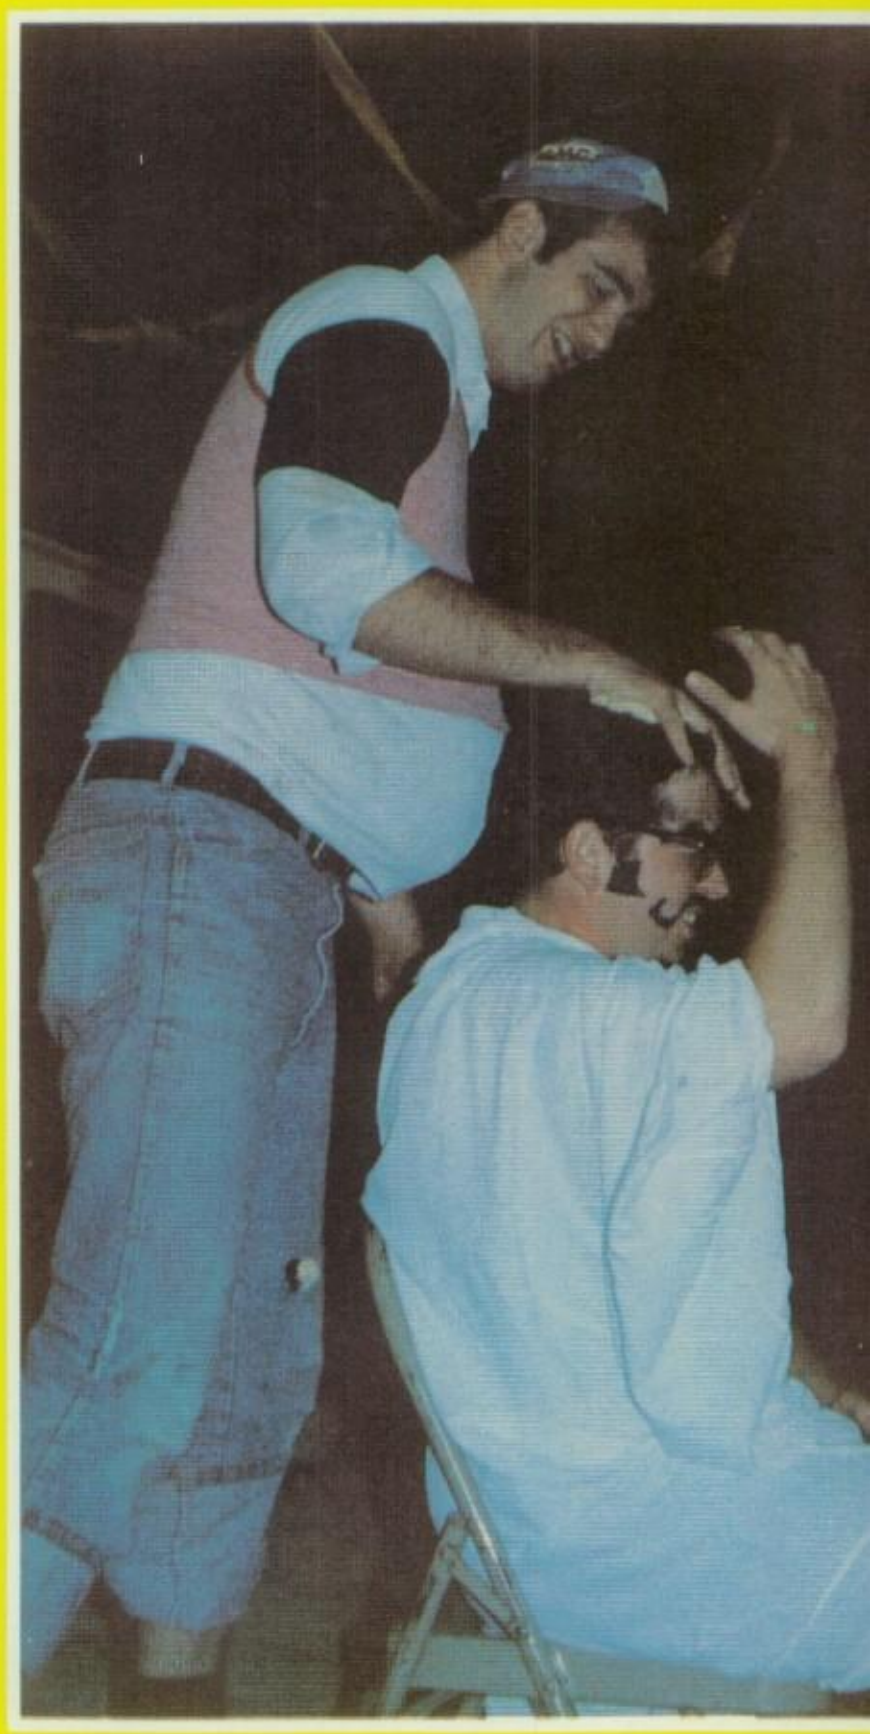
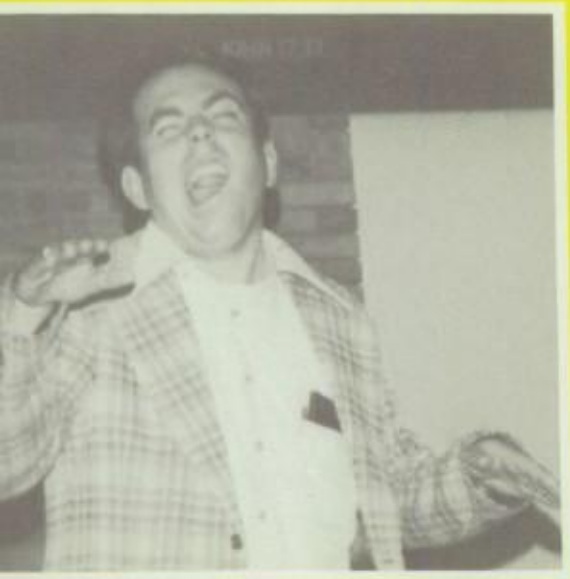
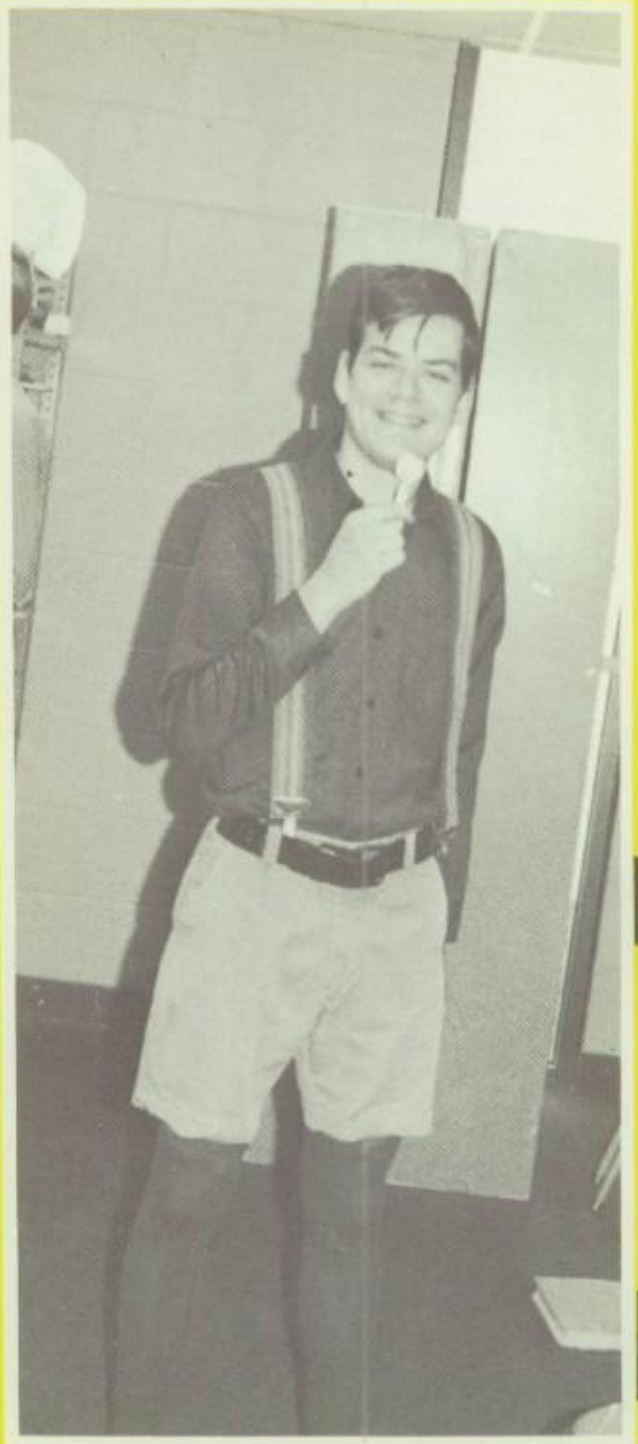
The Sixth Volume of the Musket is dedicated to a man who has worked behind the scenes of MMCS since its foundation. During his years as financial director at Marquette Manor Baptist Church and Christian School, approximately three million dollars have passed through his hands. Not only has Mr. Gossage been a Christian for fifty-five years and a member of Marquette Manor Baptist Church for forty years, but he has also been an example and inspiration to young people, showing them how God can use one life, totally dedicated to His will. For these reasons, we dedicate the 1978 Musket to the money man of Marquette:

Mr. Gossage.









NMCS ACTIVITIES

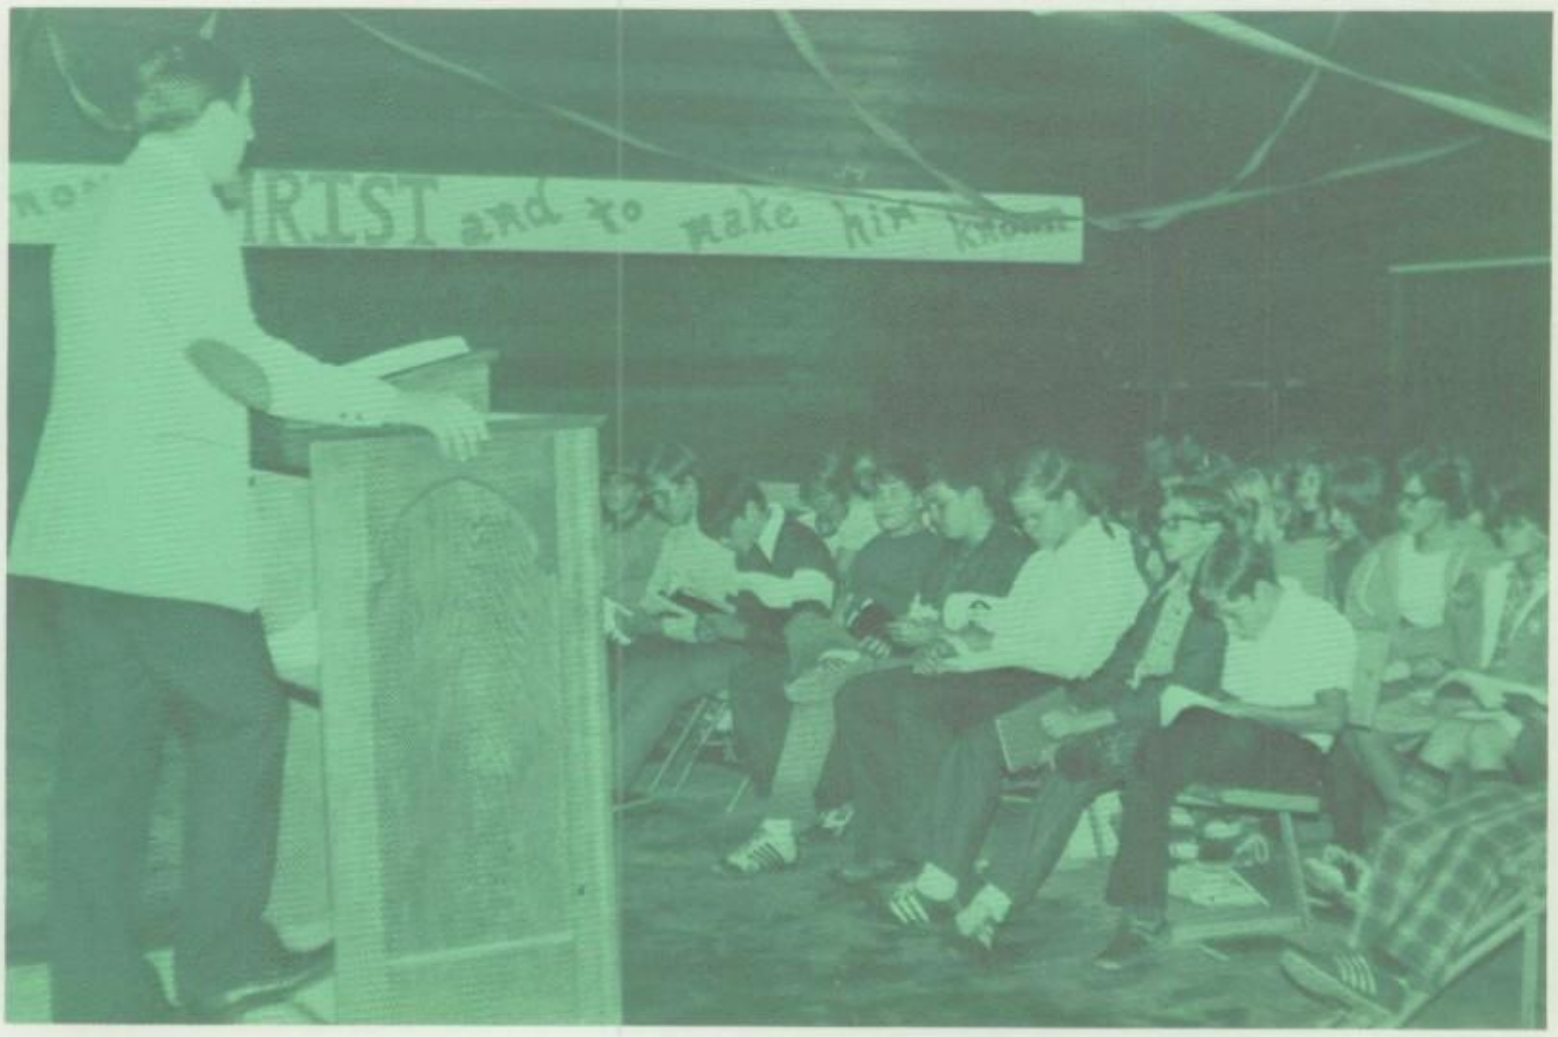
Only one life to offer

"Jesus, I commit all I do to you. I pray that I may have the proper perspective as I participate in activities. Help me not to live just to have fun, but to live for you. Then, when the fun times come, may I enjoy them, knowing they are a gift from You. Amen."

"Every good gift and every perfect gift cometh from above, from the Father of lights ..." James 1:17

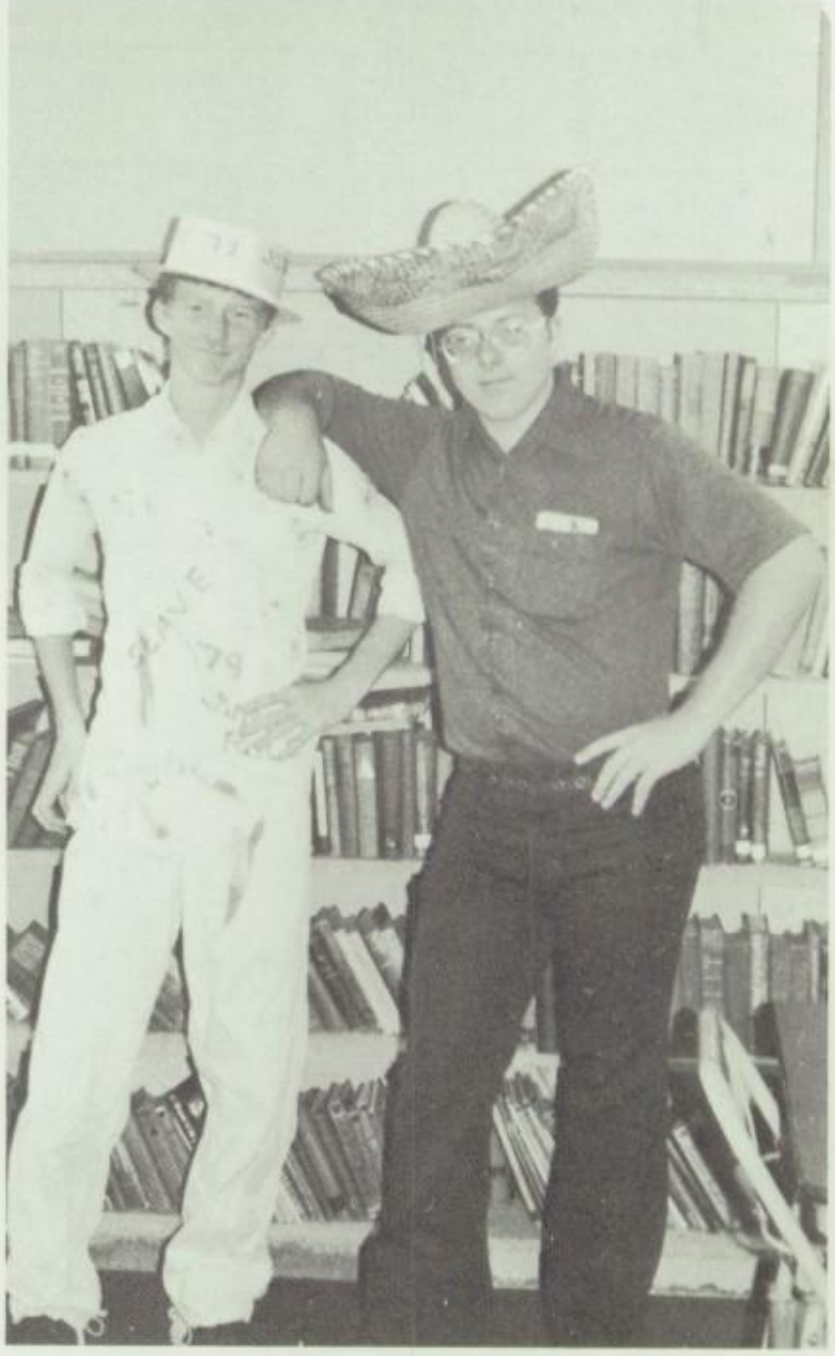
Spiritual victory highlights Camp Joy

From the mud tug to the big ball game, the gold and green battled it out at Camp Joy in a nip and tuck contest which finally resulted in a victory for the "Greenies". The "Goldies", however, did fight valiantly and won cabin clean-up, the tube tug, and the Marathon. In addition to competition, students and teachers enjoyed the super slide, canoeing, fishing, golfing, and numerous other activities. Fun however, took a secondary place in the events. The best memories of the week are Thursday night's revival when so many let the Lord have first place in their lives, and Friday's testimony service. To God be the glory for the things He hath done.



Signing party is the climax of Musket Week

Starting with the bake sale on Monday and culminating with the unveiling of the '77 Musket on Friday night, Musket Week was filled with anticipation and excitement. Waiting in lines for hot dogs, serving a master or being served by a slave, hunting for treasure were only a taste of what was in store for Friday night. From "If I weren't a teacher, a motorcycle rider I would be. Motorcycle, motorcycle! Go, Daddy, go!" to pie in the face, to the dedication to Mr. Clark, to eating the banana split, to signing yearbooks, the evening was the highlight of all the week's activities.



Sales earn money for beneficial projects

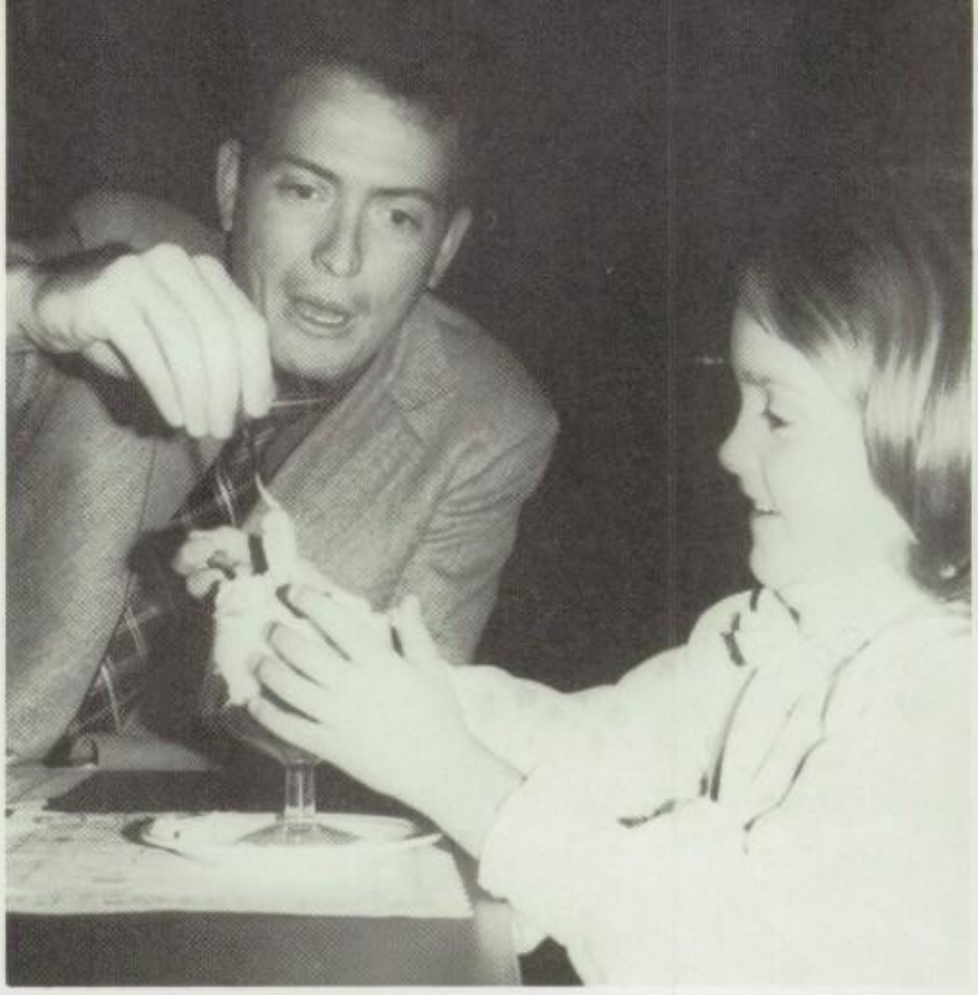
The first, and largest, sale of the year was the annual candy sale. The eleventh and second grades proved their selling finesse and won the class competition. Kelly Smith was the over all winner. For her efforts, she had a lunch date with Mr. Wolgamott and received a gift certificate and color T.V. Coming in second place was another second grader, Stephanie Jones, who was "principal for a day." Every student who sold bars or mints received prizes.

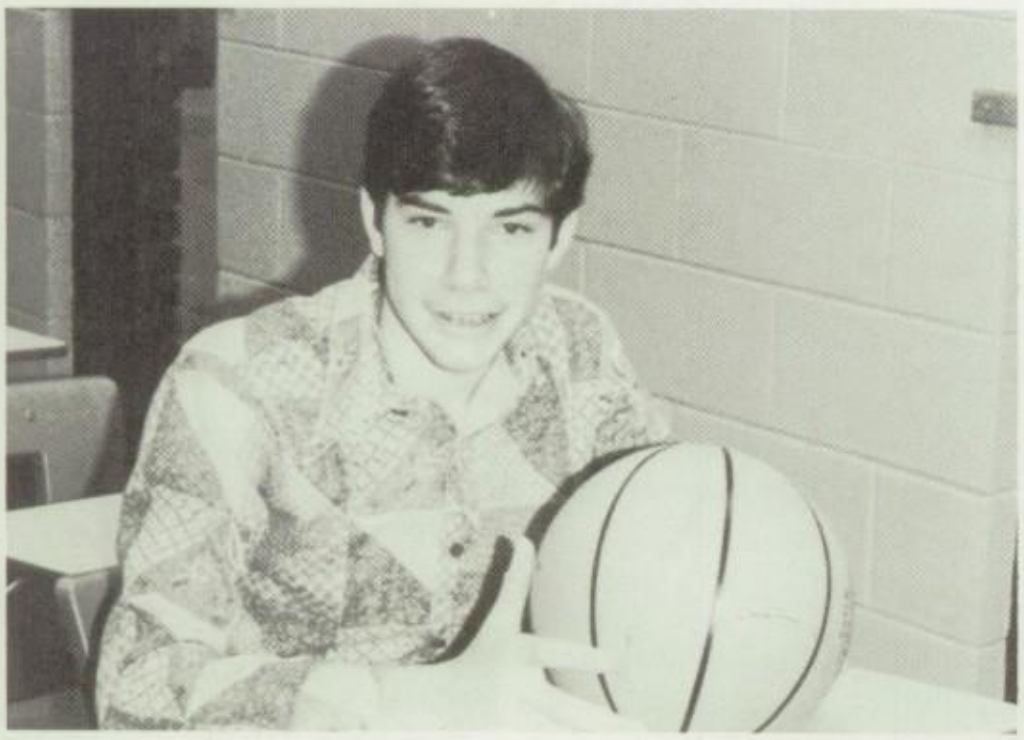
The seniors, with ambitions for "London or bust", sold candy at lunch and opened a Christmas gift shop which was successful.

With the advent of a cold winter, the juniors started selling donuts and hot chocolate to warm cold, hungry stomachs before school.

Finally, the computer club had a "funds-a poppin" sale to raise money for a computer. Ralph Siegler was top salesman.

The annual record sale is more than just a money-making effort. It is an endeavor to get good music into homes. The second graders came out on top again in this sale.





Student Council organizes action packed activities

Annual student council elections held in November proved to be a close race between candidates. Once chosen, the officers and class representatives served the student body by planning many activities. Among these were an all day fall outing with bowling or rollerskating, the annual Spirit Week with new contests including the room decorating and intermural competition, a ping pong tournament, the Exclusive Eighties Pizza Party, Camp Day, and a trip to Great America. The student council is to be commended on their hard work in planning these activities.

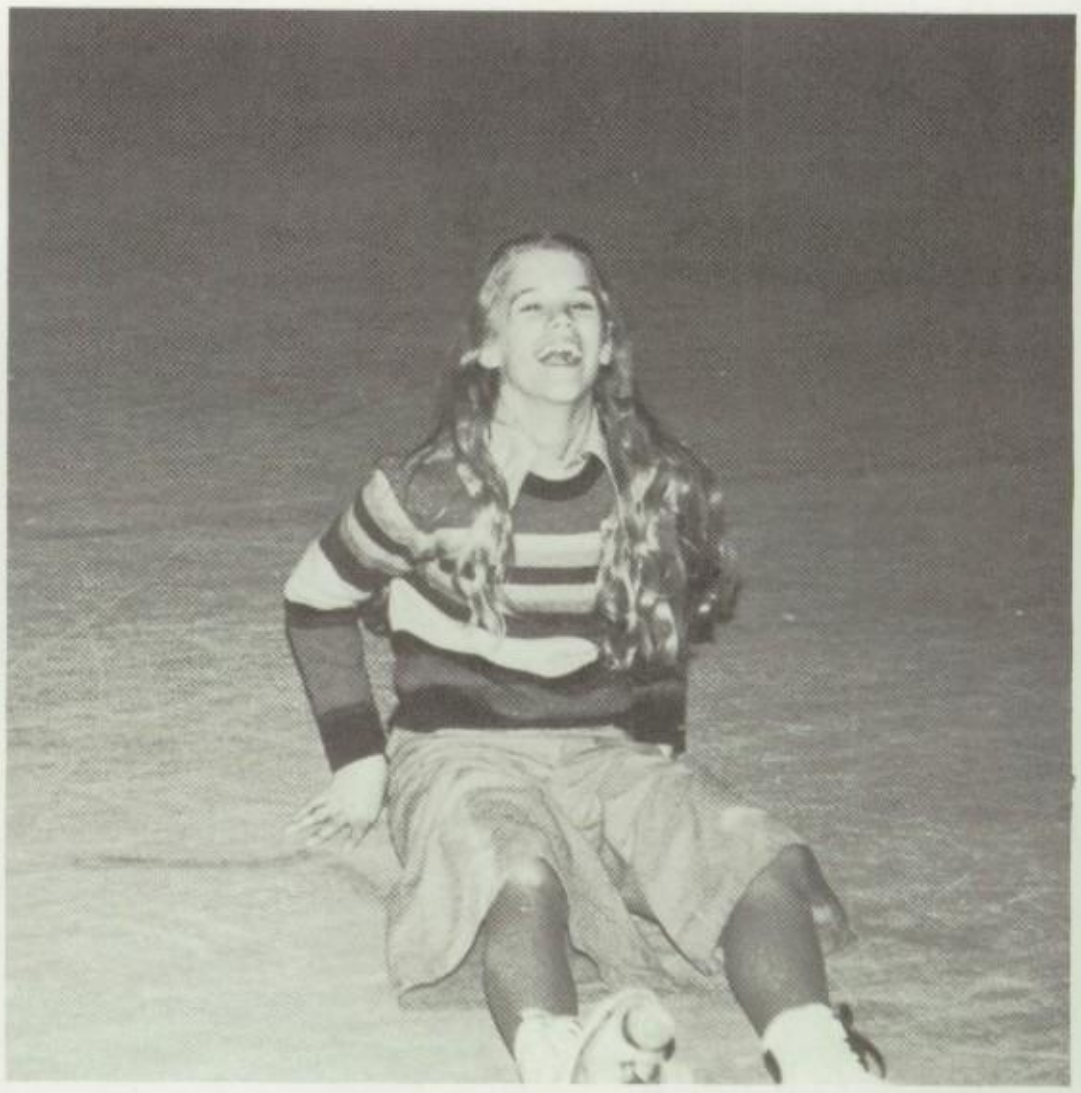
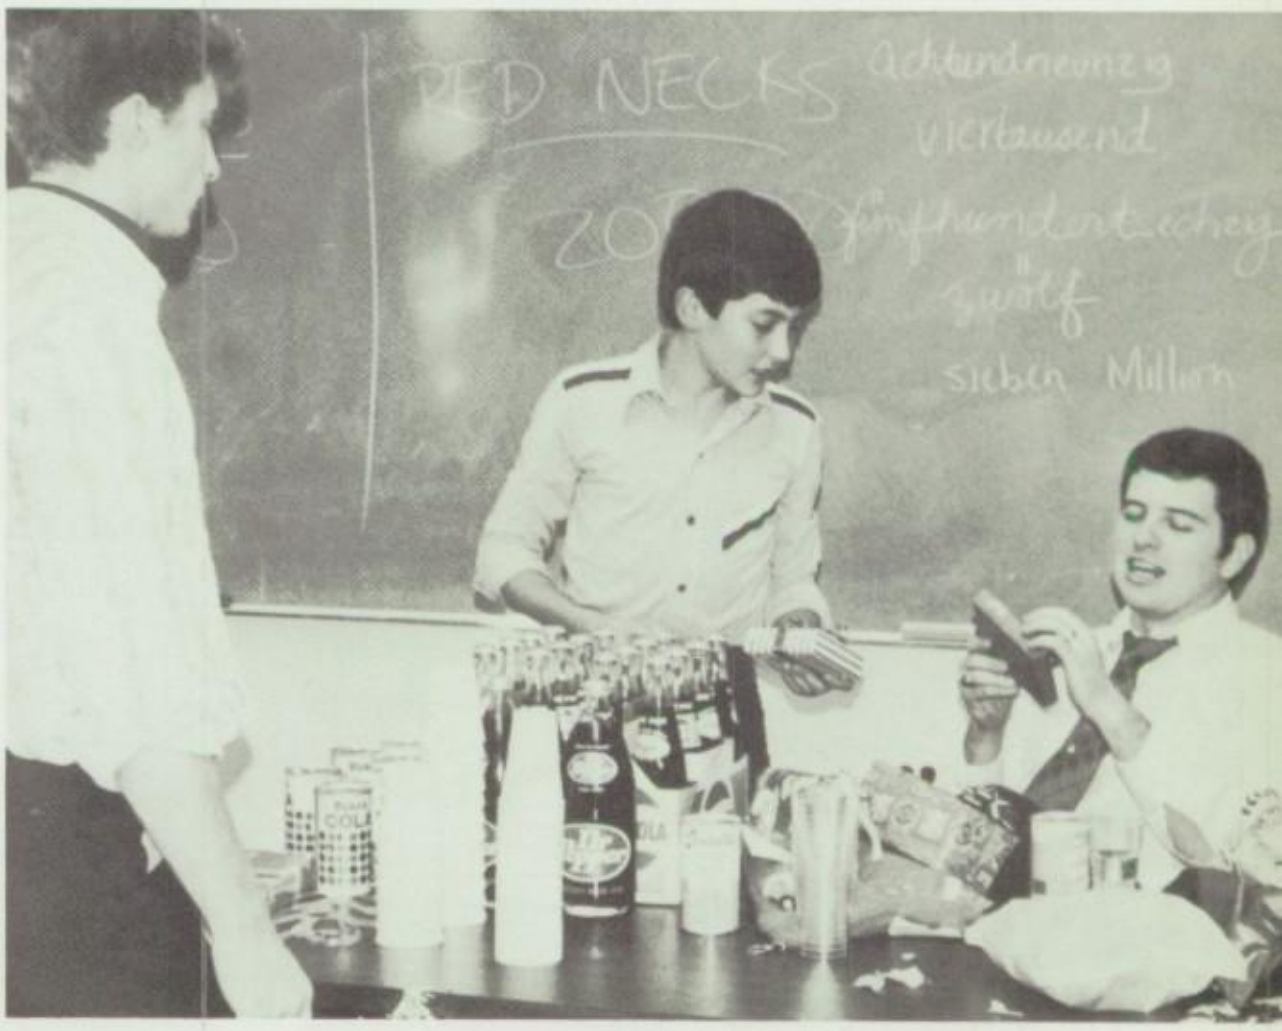
Student Council winter activity brings out the best in students

Student Council planned a morning of rollerskating or bowling and an afternoon of skits for the students' enjoyment in December. Some students were experts at these activities; others needed to acquire some new skills. Back at the school, the student body was entertained by a schoolroom skit, featuring the "rowdies" of MMCS and by a fill in the blank test; answers first-questions later. All students would like school if every day were like this one.





Christmas is parties, programs and presents

Christmas is sharing a candy cane with a friend. Christmas is a program which honors the King. Christmas is being rewarded for the hard work of directing "The Living Christmas Tree" a program which involved nearly half of the student body. Christmas is receiving gifts from admirers. Christmas is settling down for a long winter's nap after devouring a pizza at the class party.

Sophomores are Spirit Week Victors

Classes faced the toughest competition ever in the Spirit Week contests. Sophomores worked from Monday to Thursday, capturing first place with savage costumes and defeating the seniors in the final basketball game. Sixth Grade, Juniors, and Seniors gave them close competition in every event. Junior spirit was shown "in lights" with their winning poster, and Seniors went way out into space with "Martianmania" in their homeroom decoration. In skits the Juniors, portraying life under the ocean, received first place and the sophomores with "Why oming?" came in second. From last in '77 to first place in '78 was a big step for the class of '80!

Marquette presents "I Remember Mama"

Transforming a gym into a theater is a difficult task, but Mr. Harney and drama students succeeded in doing this by presenting "I Remember Mama", Marquette's first complete drama production. Although busy schedules hindered rehearsals, the actors did a good job on performance night. The audience enjoyed the play in spite of the rumbling thunder, hard rain pounding on the roof, and a lunch table falling over. Sandy Holda and Glenna Hedstrom convinced the audience that they were no longer high school students, but a young writer and her loving mama. Everyone was thoroughly entertained by this heart-warming story of a Norwegian immigrant family and their struggles and joys.

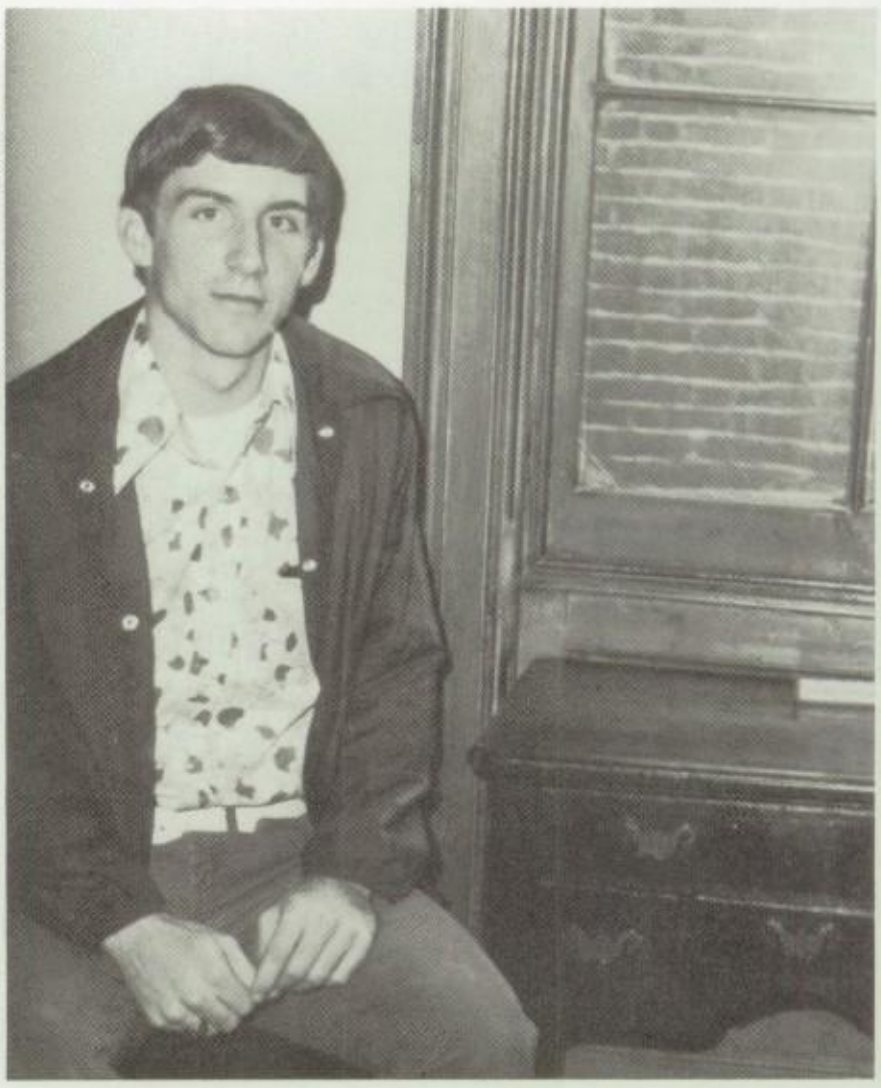
Students present various programs

Various programs provided students an opportunity to show what they learned. Program directors were Mrs. Carper, Miss Clark, and Mr. Dierking. The programs included the Kindergarten Thanksgiving Program, The Living Christmas Tree, an Easter concert, "The Three Little Pigs" by the first and second grades, and the annual Kindergarten graduation.

Seniors experience London



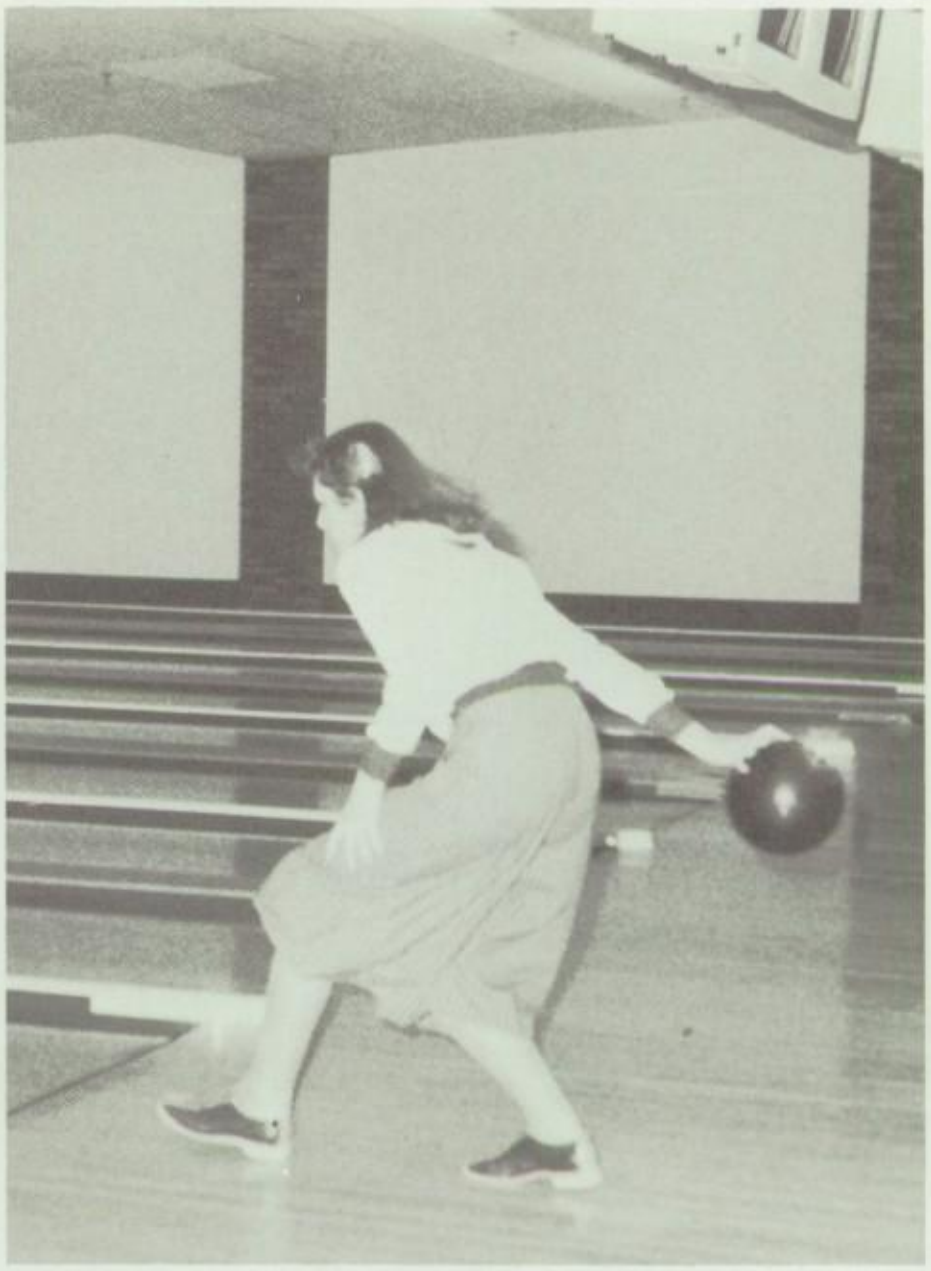
The seniors spent their week in London seeing cathedrals, the wax museum, the Tower of London, Big Ben and other famous attractions. They also enjoyed the beautiful England countryside on their way to the cities of Bath, Stratford on Avon, Oxford and Canterbury. Adventuring on the Tube (underground subway) and having a stranger put a gun in the faces of four students added to the excitement. This trip will be one of the best memories in the lives of the seniors.

Juniors and seniors adventure in paradise

The class of '79 prepared an unusual banquet, a Luau, for the seniors. The evening began with a meal of tropical fruit, "island pupus" and other Hawaiian delicacies. Following the senior wills and the juniors' prophecy, an interesting slide presentation entitled "Kids Say the Funniest Things" portrayed the seniors when they were children. A challenge by Leigh Crockett of Maranatha was followed by bowling from 12 to 3 and a sunrise breakfast at the Ramsey home. Faculty, staff and students commented that "Adventures in Paradise" was the finest banquet they had ever attended. ALOHA!!

"Oliver Hardy, lookout! PDQ's on the way!"

Some bowled for three hours, while others got their beauty sleep.



Camp Day rekindles Marquette's spirit

Green and Gold Day revived the competitive spirit between students. Charlie Hatchett came down to bring back memories and organize "Camp Day". The competition began with the tube tug; green won this event. Then came the mud tug, with a close struggle between teams, but green came out on top. Students had a picnic lunch of hot dogs, chips and dessert. The big event of the day was the all sports relay ending with the big ball game. Green got an early lead, but the gold caught up to win the event. It wasn't enough because green won with 28,000 points to the gold's 27,000 points. The day ended with a devotional by Pastor Wayne titled, "Remember Your Vows". A time of testimonies followed to end the day.

Great America ends school activities on a good note

The burden of school work being off added to the enjoyment of a leisurely day at Great America for one last fling with school mates before departing for the summer. Some had enough nerve to try the Tidal Wave, others bought souvenirs, and of course everyone waited in lines.

Students use free time in clubs

While Computer Club members exercised their brainpower in programming their new toy to play games and solve difficult problems, the members of the Ski Club took to the slopes to exercise their physical skill and finesse in the snow.

The '77 soccer team, coached by Don Ward, was the victor of the IACS. The highlight of the season was capturing the championship trophy on October 28 in a battle against the fighting Crusaders of Kankakee. Although that was the championship game, the toughest game was against Oak Forest for the conference title, which resulted in a 3-3 tie, putting the Minutemen into the regionals. A non-conference game against Maranatha, in which we ended Maranatha's two year winning streak, was the thriller.

The season was a success not only because the team was undefeated, but also because each player grew spiritually and learned to give God the glory for everything. God blessed the Minutemen for their testimony on and off the field and for their prayers of thanksgiving and praise.

Team follows steps of Varsity

Finishing the season with seven wins and no losses, the Junior High Soccer Team, coached by Don Ward, had its best season ever. More important than these victories, however, were the good sportsmanship and Christian testimony of the players. Growing in grace through the application of Christian principles in daily life both on and off the soccer field is the real goal of the sport's program in the Christian school.

Marquette obtains Co-Conference Championship

Basketball began with much optimism and apprehension. In the first gew games the Minutemen displayed overpowering talent along with a highly productive bench. Throughout the season there were games which brought a temporary feeling of defeat, but this was dissipated when we were victorious in the next game by a large margin. The exuberant energy displayed by the pep band helped to unify the enormous fan participation. The game against Oak Forest was the highlight of the year. With the conference championship at stake, Marquette hustled to chop down the Patriots by a score of 60-50 and finish the season in a first place tie. The closhing of the state tournament, in which Marquette finished fourth, marked not only the end of the season, but also the end of Mr. Pat Quinn's reign as head coach. We thank him for his dedication and guidance as coach for three years. The team is also grateful to parents, teachers, and students for their great enthusiasm throughout the basketball season.

Junior high basketball team places second in state

Through the season the Junior High Basketball Team grew increasingly stronger. Ending with an outstanding season of only one loss, that loss coming after a double overtime against Kankakee, the team not only progressed physically but mentally and spiritually.

The "Grapplers" of '78 will surely go down in the annals of MMCS wrestling history for setting, meeting, and breaking records. Older team members went undefeated while the younger set milestones in grasping and using the techniques that Coach Leffew, the 1960 West Virginia State Wrestling Champ, showed them. Coach Leffew said of the '78 team, "This is just the beginning. The team will grow and get better as the years roll on." Exciting was not a powerful enough word for the matches against teams that we've lost to for years and finally defeated in '78. Praise God for these victories and to Him all the glory shall be given!

Mrs. Miller, taking time out from being mother, came back to coach her girls a third season. '78 Volleyball team: Row 1: Jill Nespor, Wendy Ardt, Sandy Holda, Denise Weretka, Lore Rosmanitz, Kim Dreher, Sandy Springstroh, Carolyn Primm; Row 2: Cindy Osborne, Michelle Raysby, Laura Brazelton, Ruth Ann Novak, Jackie Stercay, Becky Tyrrell, Sue Fiene, Becky Jackson.

The Volleyball team practiced many hours learning new skills and techniques. Ending the season 3-3, they often preferred not to discuss scores, but kept their spirits high. Winning is not just defeating the other team; it is doing your best and keeping your testimony by giving praise and thanks to God for everything. This is the victory that lasts eternally.

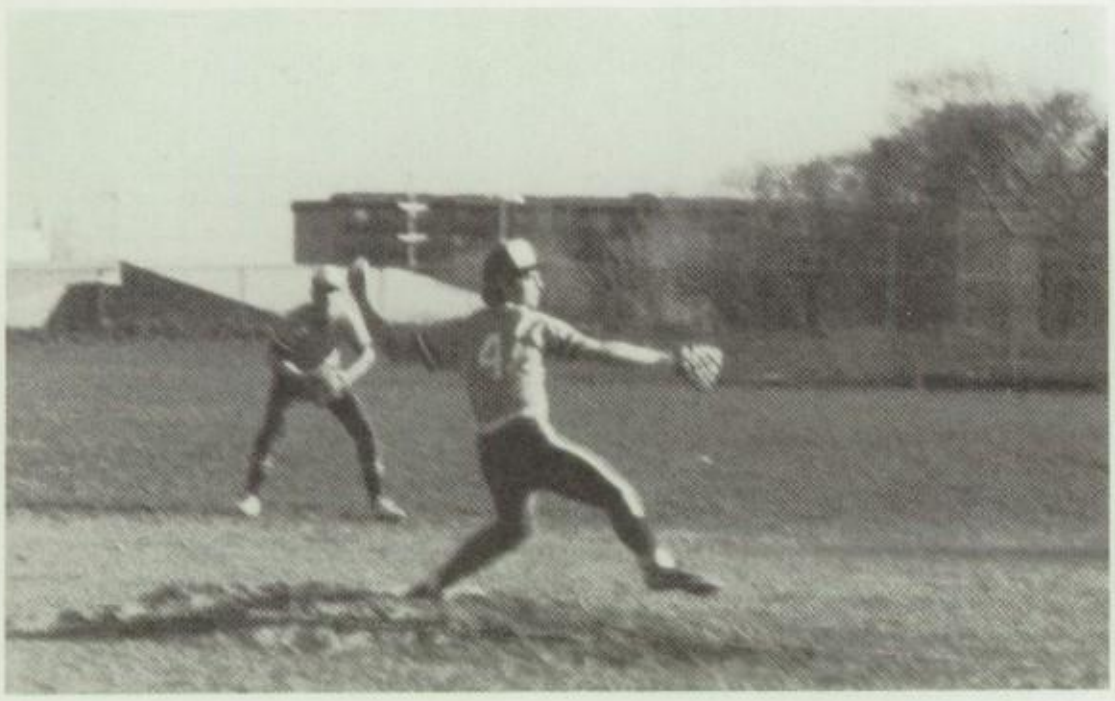
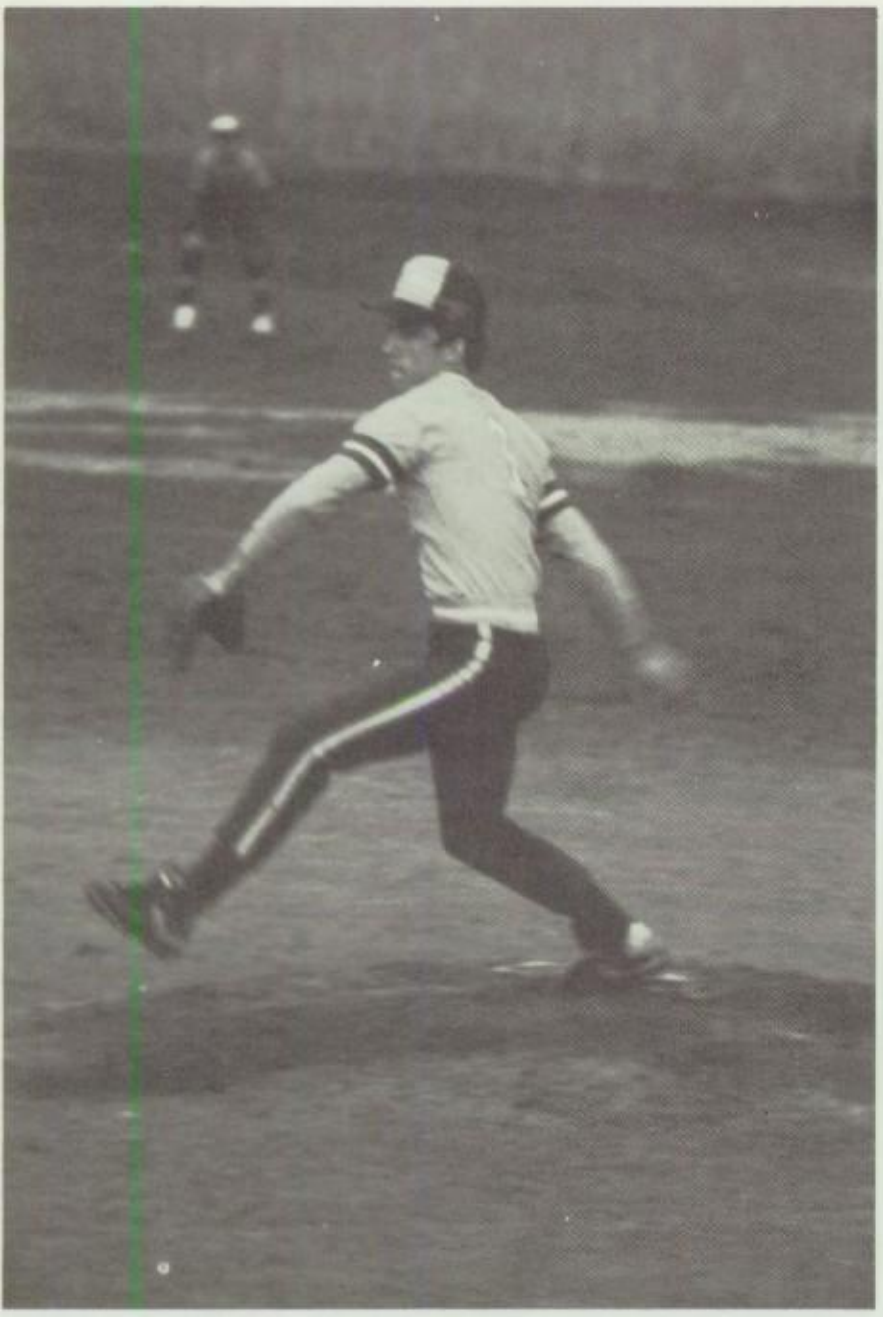
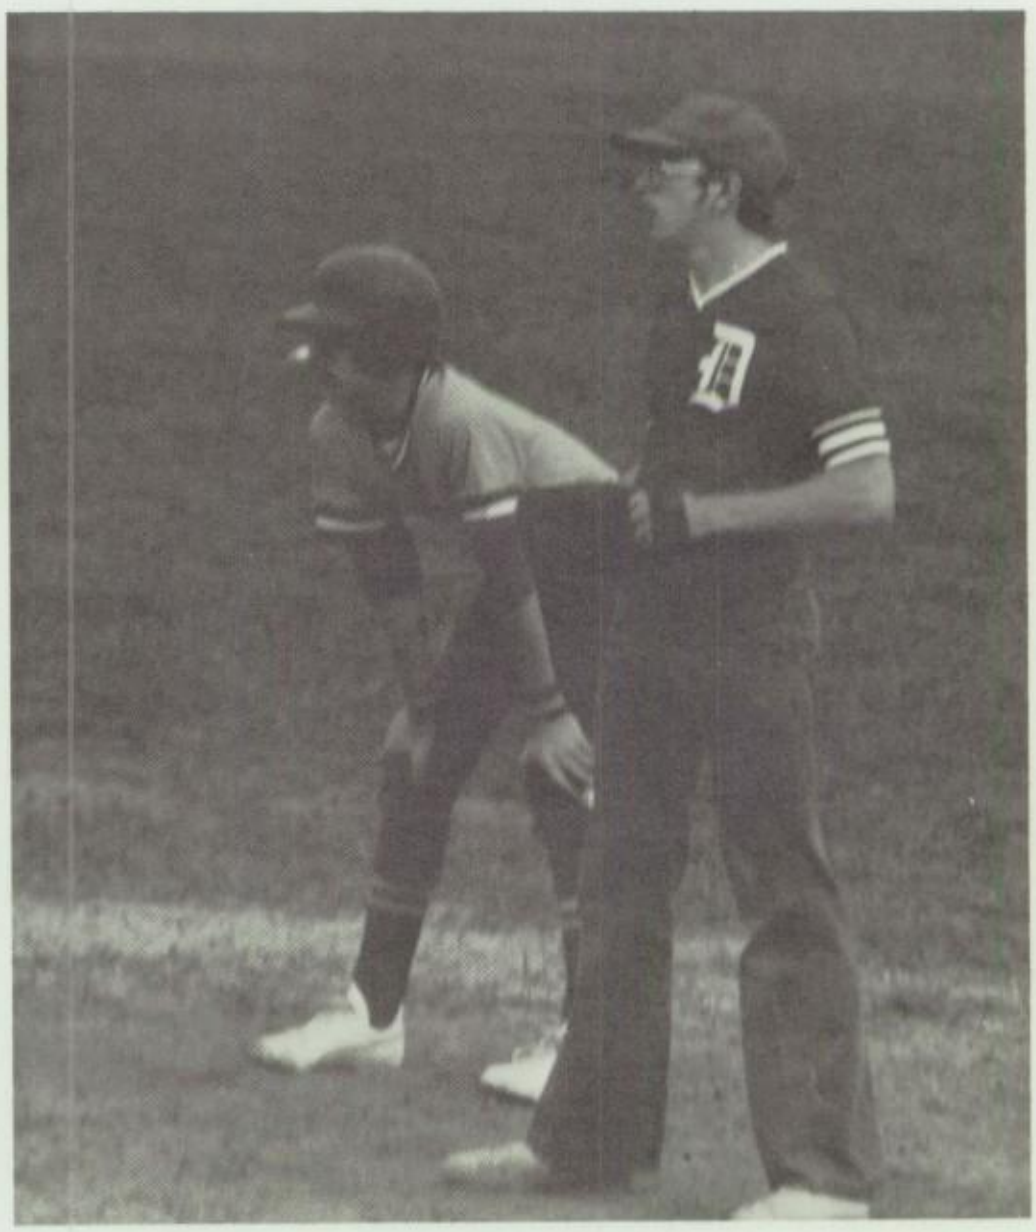
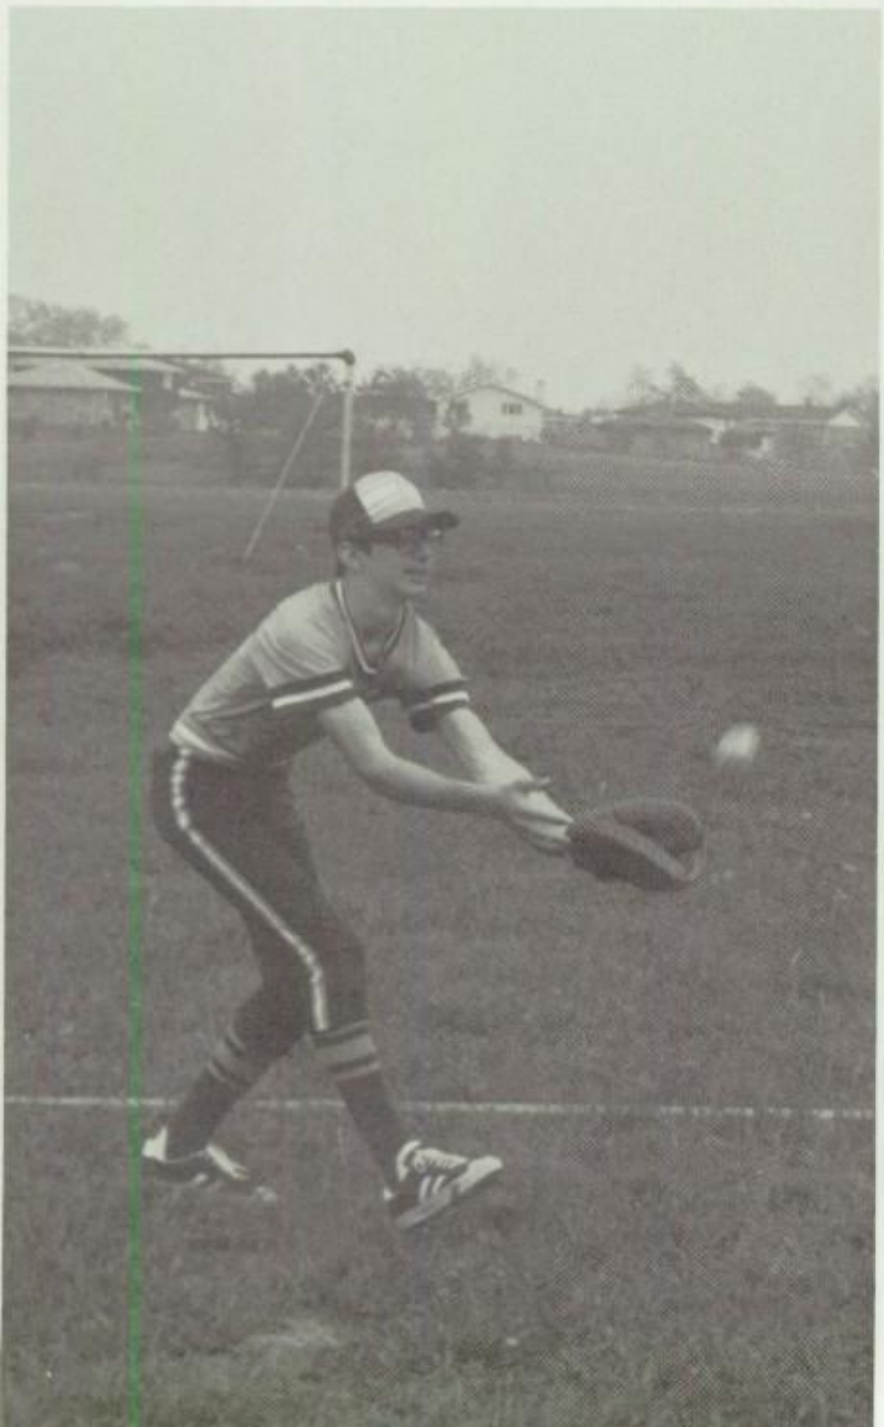
Baseball team keeps playing inspite of injuries









The Baseball Team faced a tough season. Many games were rained out; some were rescheduled and were rained out again. Then, several team members were injured and could not finish the season. Facing rough opposition, the Minute-men ended the season 2-5. The victory against Dwight was the highlight of the season. Mr. Ward did a good job in his first effort as a baseball coach.

Junior high cheerleaders have spirit that's untold

Under the leadership of Mrs. Ehmann, the junior high cheerleading squad cheered the basketball team on to second place in the IACS tournament. Cheerleaders Sue Nash, Jeanette Novak, Suzy Drews, Debbie Bray, and Becky Stercay, with alternates Angel Petro and Karen Cichon, had the pep that a great team needs.

Varsity Cheerleaders place second in state competition

The '77-'78 cheerleading squad was larger than ever before, giving more pep, talent, and noise to the games. With the aid of Mr. Barnes and the pep band, these cheerleaders got a crowd participation to cheer the basketball team on to the state basketball tournament at Springfield. There, they were second only to the Grace Baptist of Kankakee in cheerleading competition.

77-78 Varsity Cheerleaders: Ruth Ann Novak, Cindy Hamilton (Capt.), Wendy Ardt, Mary Ann Edgar, Sharon Brewton, Michelle Leffew, Becky Munson, Shari Johnson, Carol Garvin.

Marquette's choir is number one in nation

The choir, under the direction of Mr. Dierking, worked hard from February to May learning Mozart's "Gloria" for the IACS Fine Arts Tournament. Because the song was performed in Latin, they were often teased about singing in tongues. The choir was excited about winning the IACS contest which enabled them to go on to national competition at Chattanooga, Tennessee. Preparing for the trip was time consuming, especially for the girls who made matching dresses for the performance. Because senior choir members were in London on their Senior trip, the choir adopted singers from other classes to fill the gap. After a time of testimonies and getting attitudes right, choir members were of one spirit for their final performance on Friday, May 5. The Lord blessed hearts that were right with Him when the choir received the first place rating and a beautiful trophy.

Students receive blue ribbons at IACS tourney

After many long hours of preparation, students had the opportunity to participate in the IACS Academic and Fine Arts Tournament. Many of these students received blue ribbons, or first place ratings, showing that they have learned much at MMCS.

Left: Junior High Girls' Choir, directed by Mrs. Carper, were runners up to the national contest. Below: The Bible Quiz Teams and the Ladies' Ensemble received high ratings in their events.

Scholars honored at awards assembly

While ball teams are cheered and actors and musicians are applauded throughout the year, students who are faithful in attendance, studies, behavior, and citizenship are sometimes not publically recognized for their achievement. During the awards assembly, however, their consistent goodness is rewarded. One of the goals of the administration and faculty is to see each student do his best in these areas.

Graduates press forward in faith

Steve Heiniger — Valedictorian

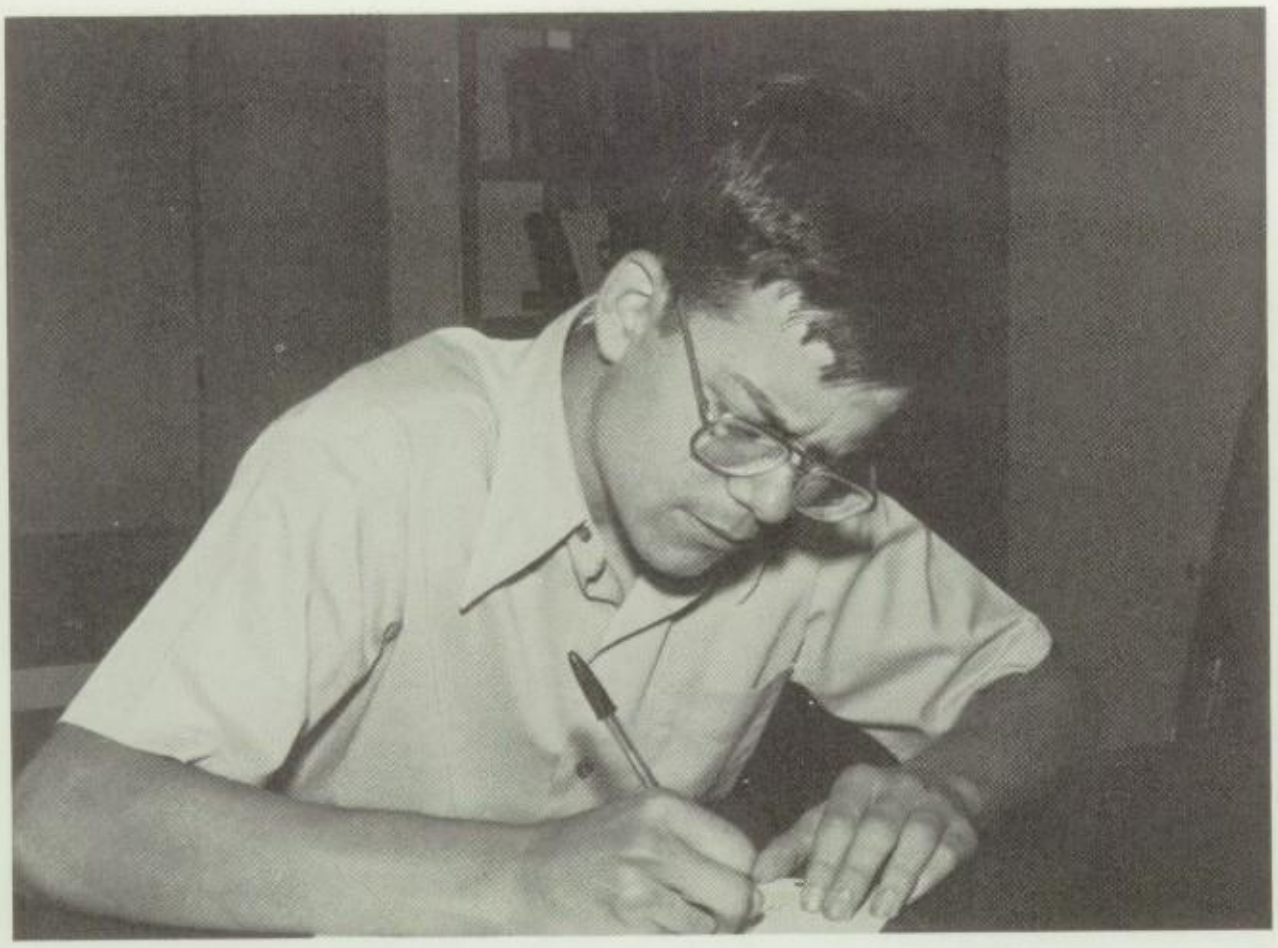
Jim Van Gelderen — Salutatorian, Christian Leadership Award

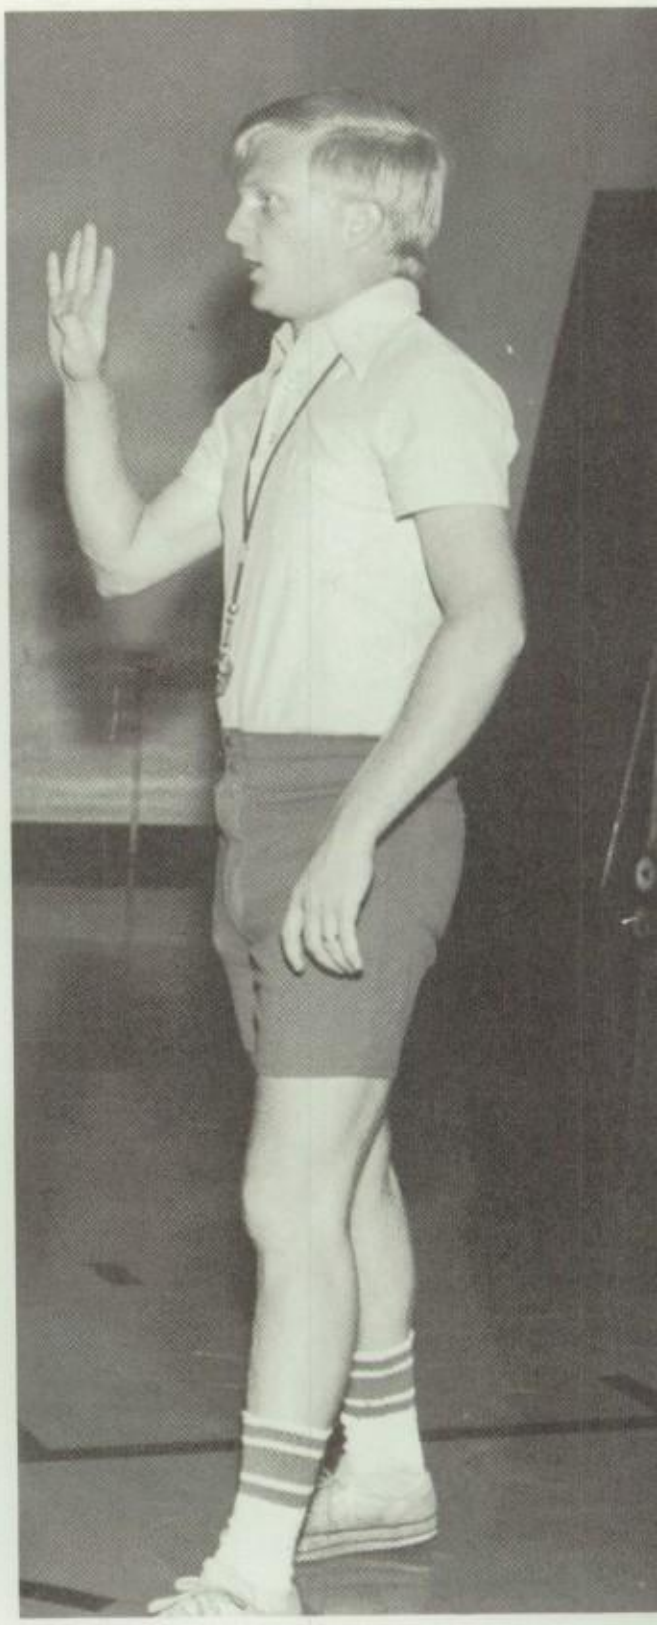
John Martin — Christian Leadership Award

Sandy Holda — Dan Bumpus Memorial Scholarship

Rich Sinde — Dan Bumpus Memorial Scholarship

Faith was the theme of the 1978 commencement exercises. Students had a major part in the program. The graduates gave testimonies and participated in a Readers' Theater depicting great Christians of the past, and the high school choir and ensemble sang several sacred numbers. The faculty marched in full academic regalia and closed the program with a challenge in song which urged the graduates to seek and do the Lord's will.





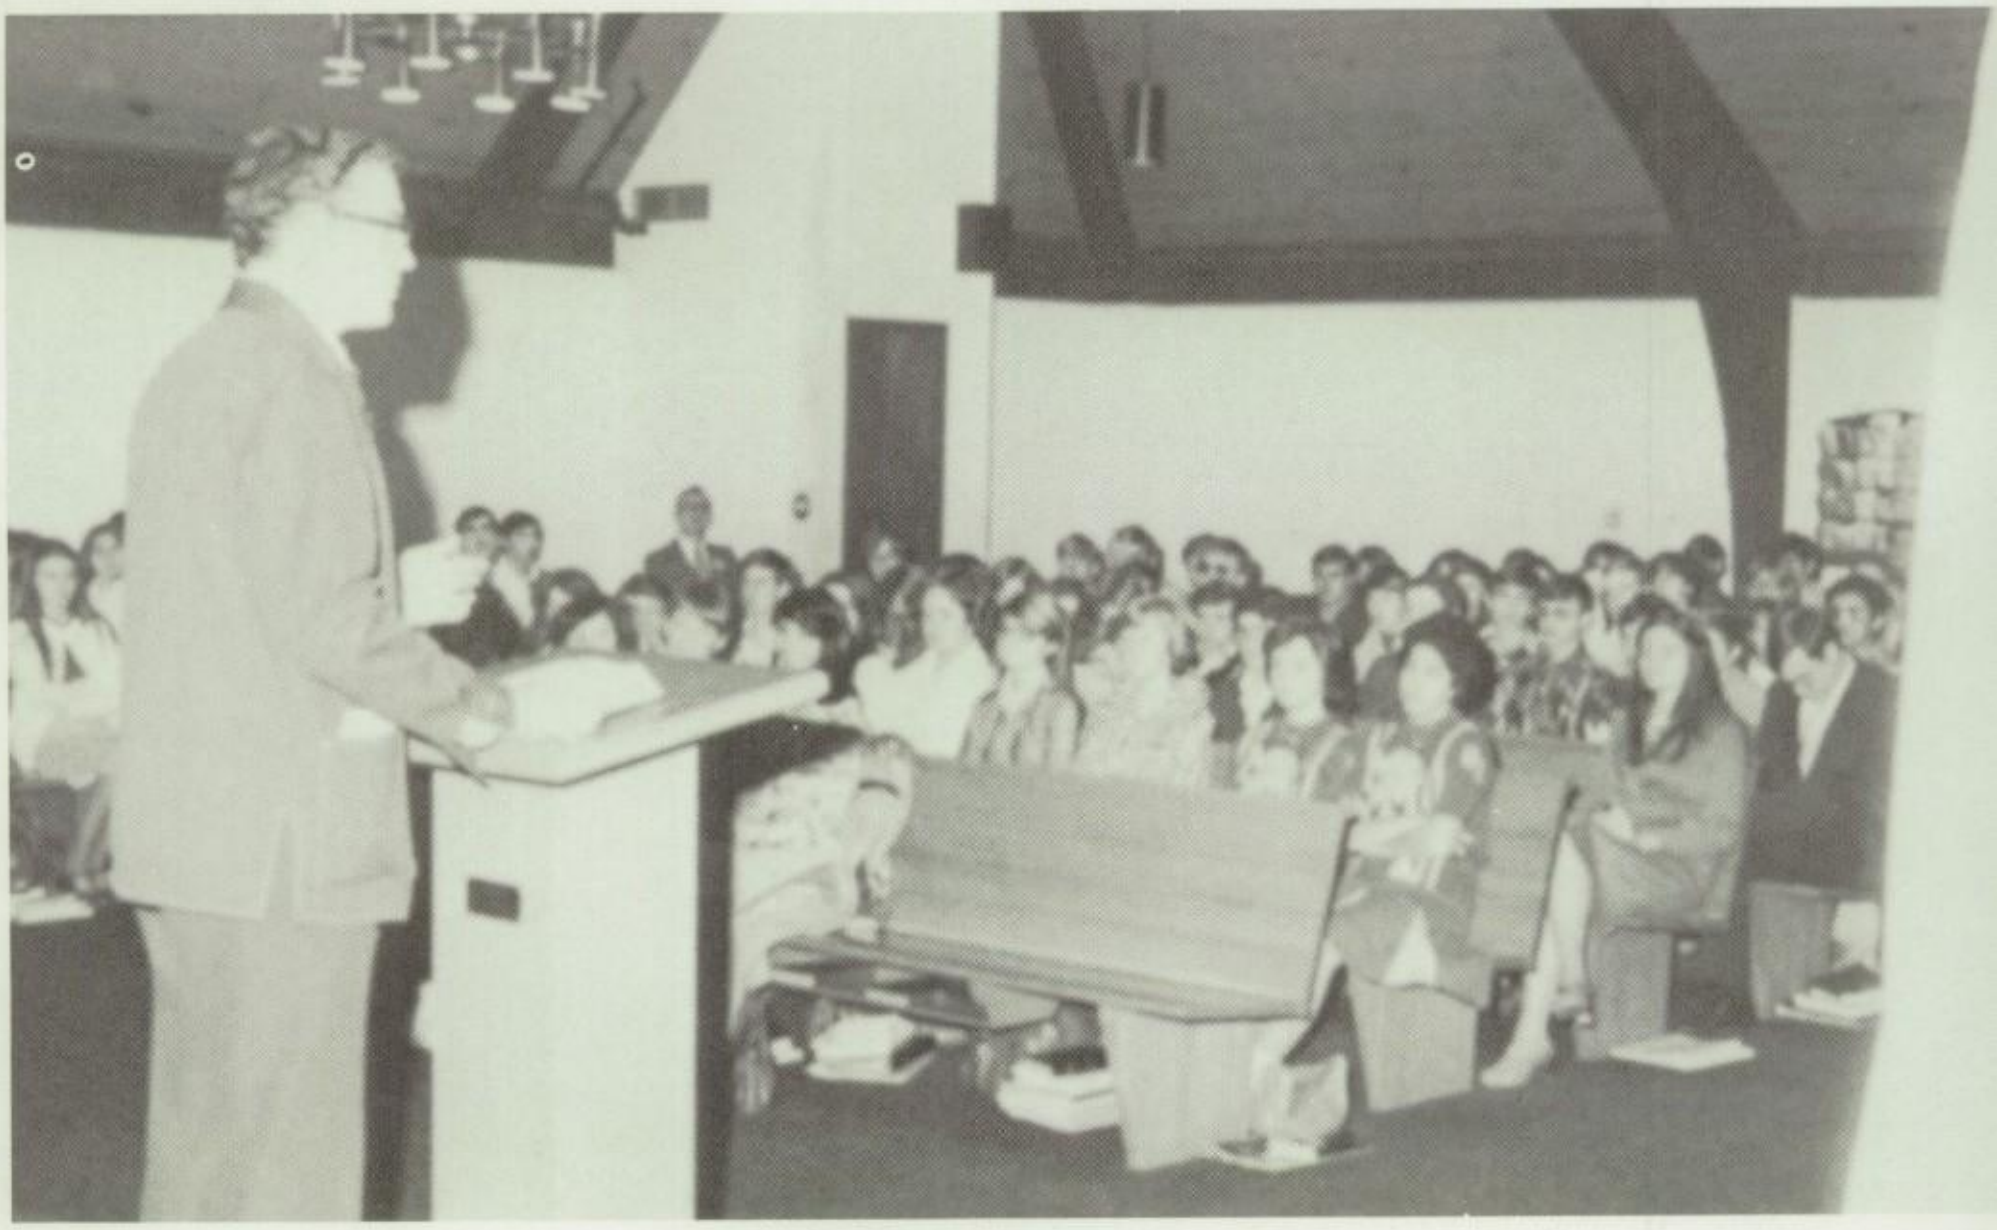
ACADEMICS

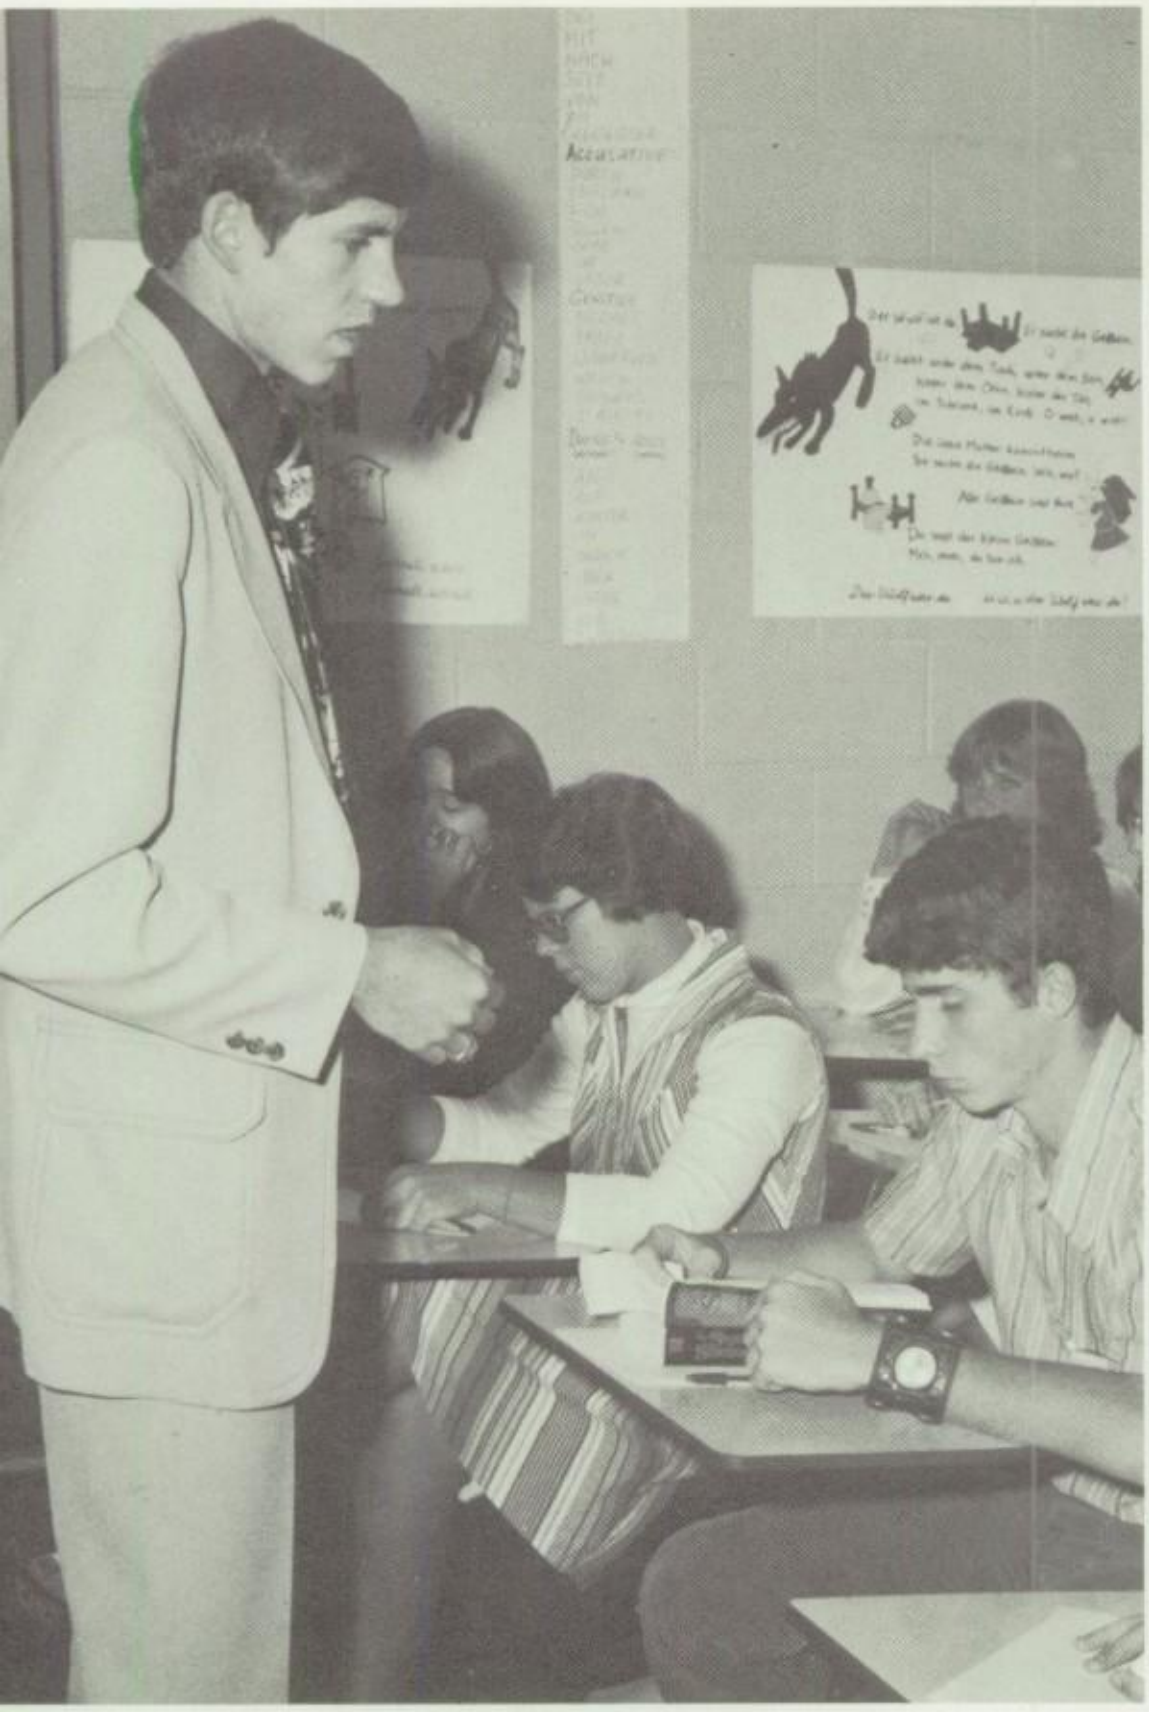
Only one life

"Jesus, I thank you for the privilege I have at this Christian school to learn in the light of your Word. Thank you for the teachers, the staff, Mr. Wolgamott, and Pastor Van Gelderen. Thank you for the opportunities I've had through camp, extra-curricular activities and sports to get to know my teachers personally. Help me, Lord, to study hard, to develop the mind you gave me, and to cooperate with my teachers. Amen."

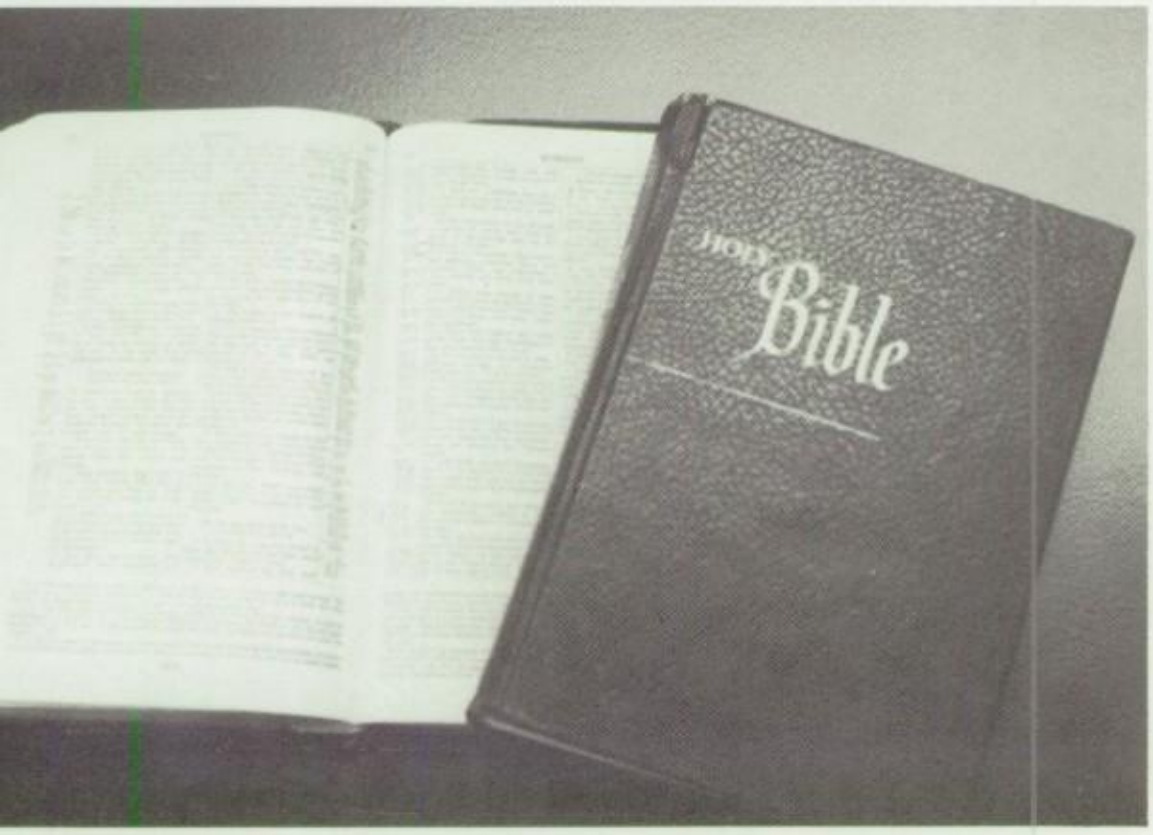
"Study to show thyself approved unto God ..."

Preaching the Word, . . .





The main responsibility of Marquette Manor is to preach the Word to the students hoping to develop strong Christians who will show forth Christ in their words and actions. With various speakers during chapel and through Bible class, the Word of God is given to the students to either accept or reject. Two of the speakers during chapel included Frank Garlock and Dean Blakney who spoke to both inform and encourage students in following the Lord's will. In addition to the weekly chapel services, students sat under the daily teaching of Mr. Ehmann and Mr. Layman in Bible classes. Using Bible characters and personal illustrations, they readily applied the Word of God.



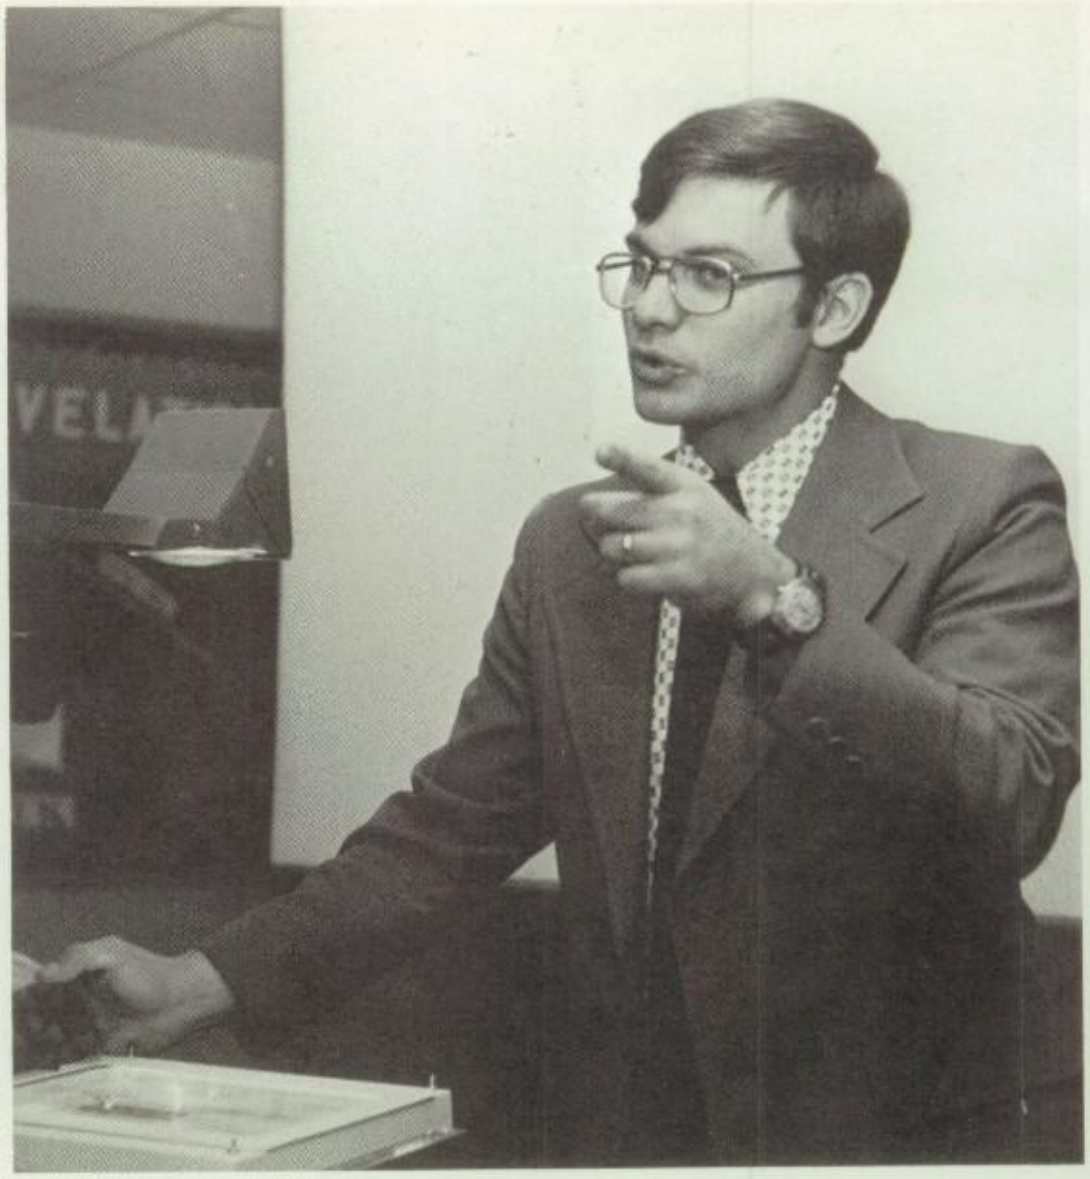
History: Story of God

In public schools, history is taught from the standpoint of evolution, but in the Christian school, history is the story of God. Teachers Mr. Winters and Mr. Quinn taught their history classes with this perspective in mind. In history courses students took a lot of notes, but doing projects, making speeches, and playing games, such as "War of the Worlds" broke the monotony.

English students learn to communicate effectively

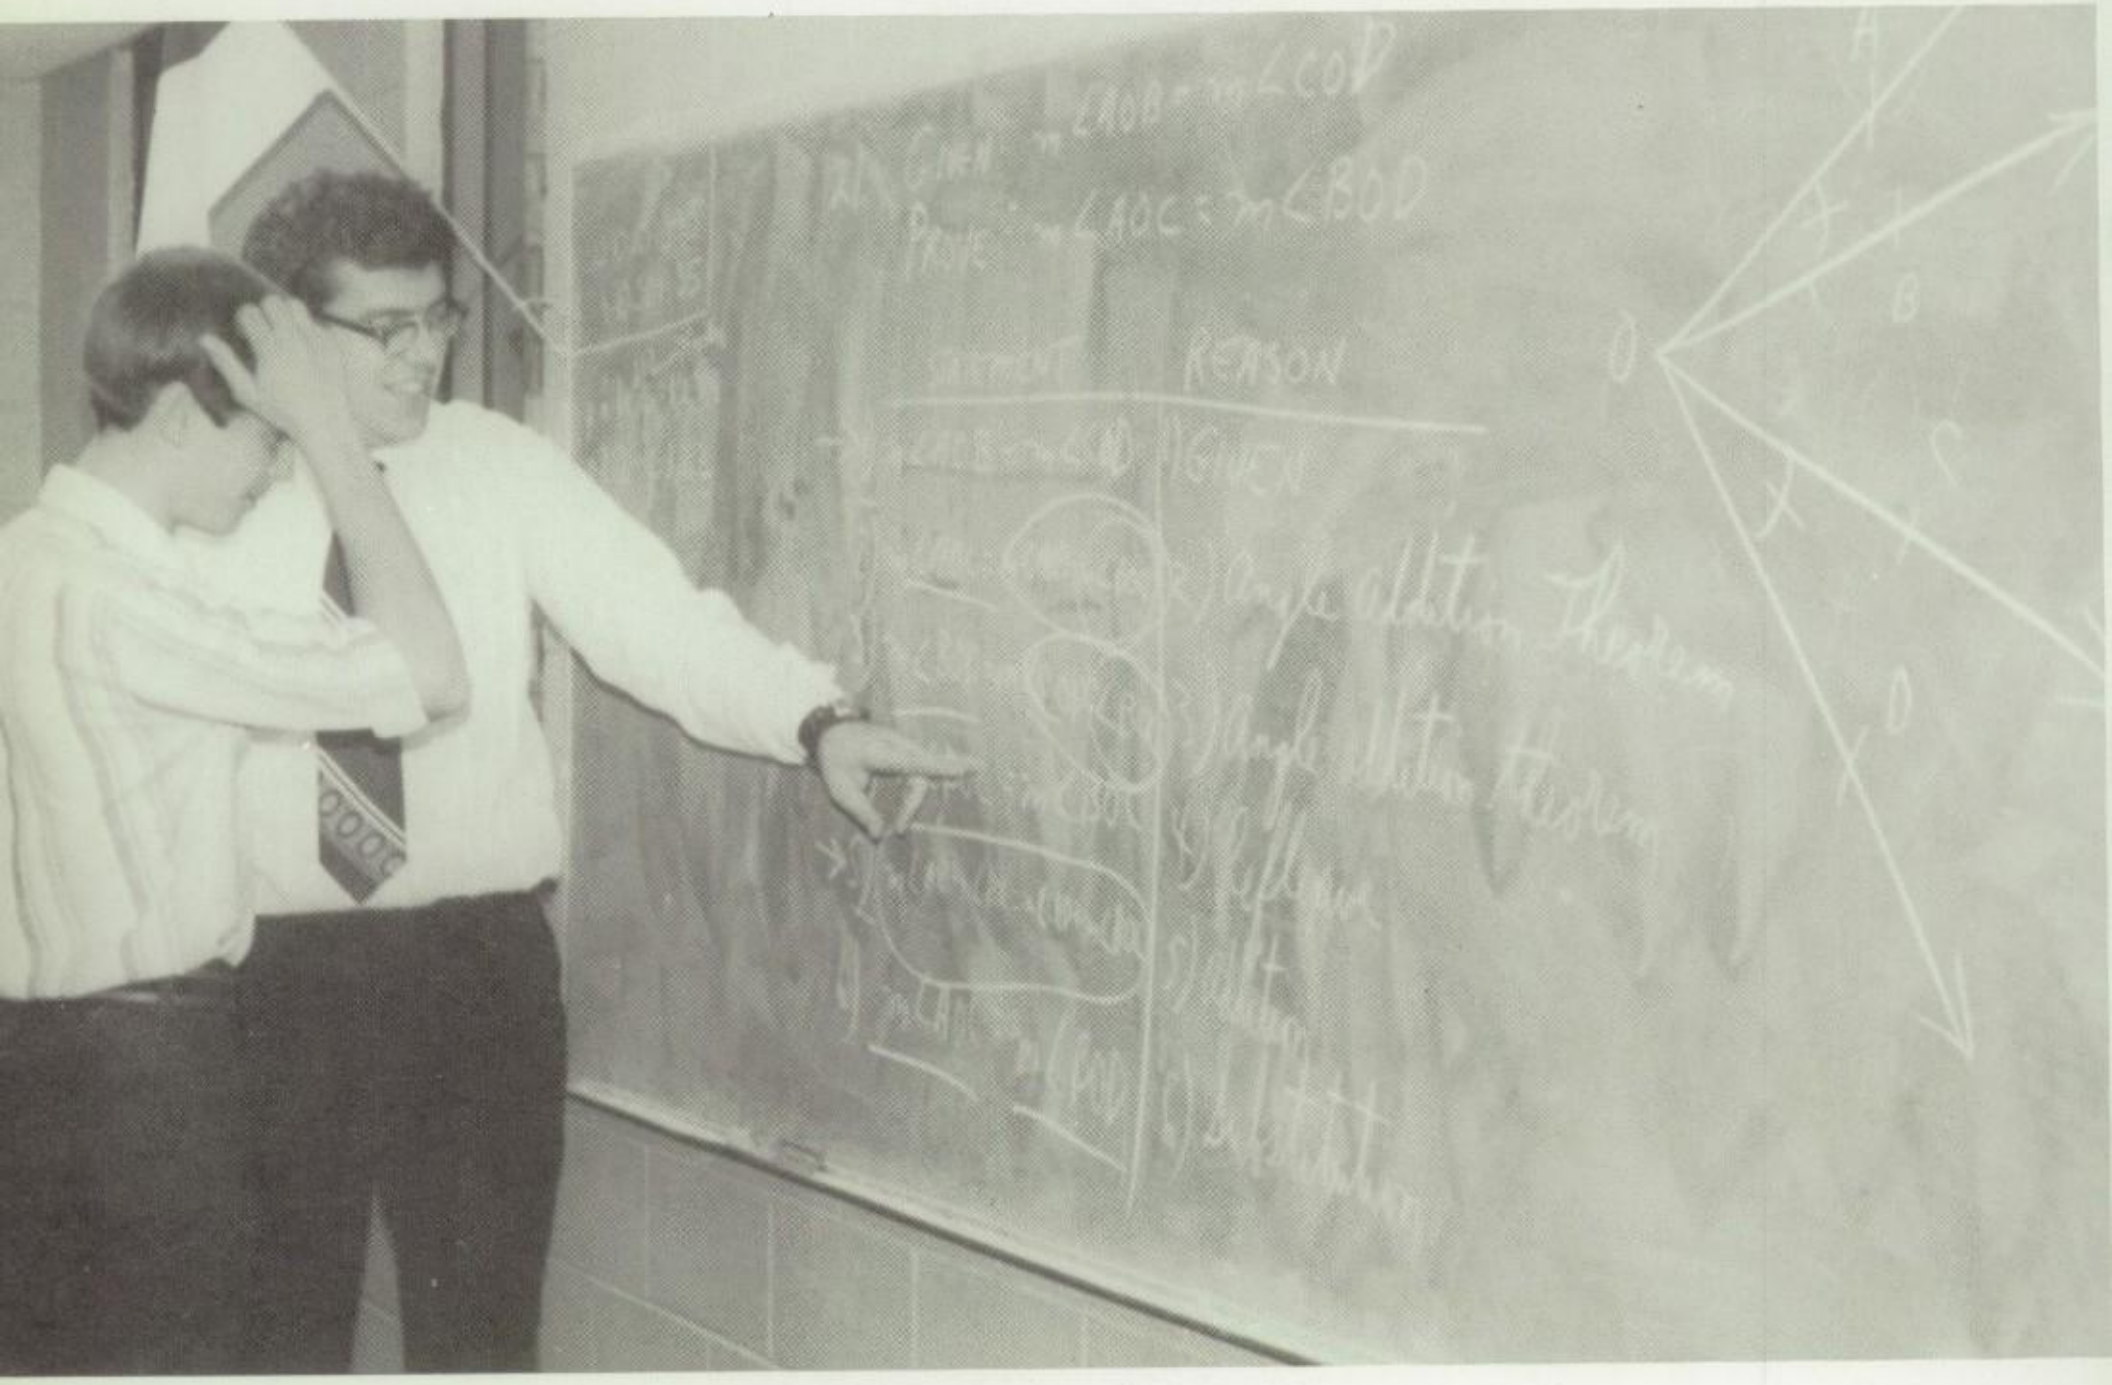
Effective communication is the goal of English classes. Through the study of grammar, students learn to express their thoughts correctly and logically. While Mr. Winters, Miss Clark, and Miss Hoag used the traditional Warriner's grammar text, Mr. Quinn found a text more suited to his interests. Studying literature broadened students' perspectives as they investigated the thoughts and feelings of writers who lived in different places and other times. Some of these writings included The Scarlet Letter, Screwtape Letters, Romeo and Juliet, and How I coached Championship Basketball. (!??)

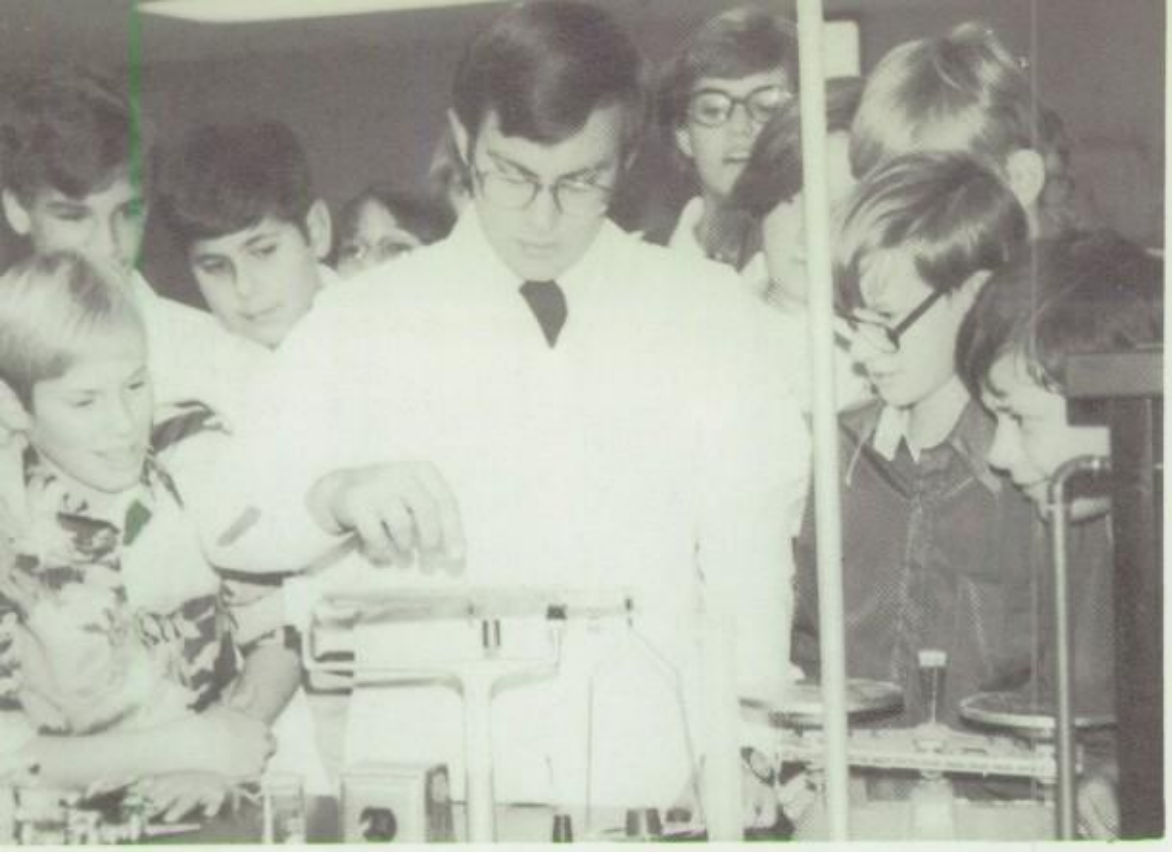
Math teaches logical thinking

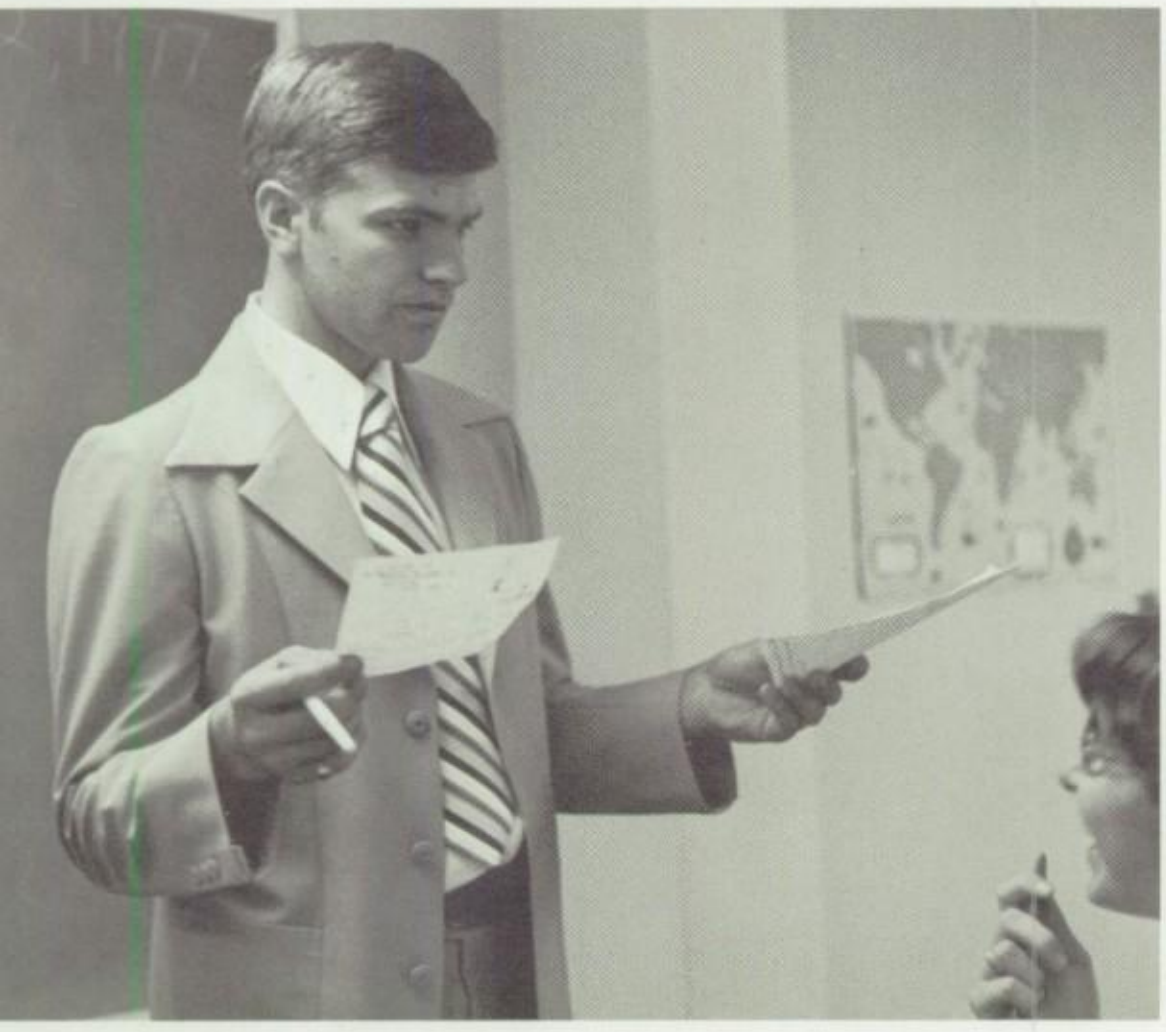


Mr. Walker made great strides in teaching geometry and algebra students to think logically, and if he didn't get them entirely on the trail to logical thoughts, at least he made them think. In addition to this, Mr. Walker, with his cheerful countenance and laughter, kept math class interesting.

We need not forget Mr. Clark in his quest to get mathematical formulas and principles across to his calculus and trig class. To say the least, he and his students receive a lot of prayer for their endeavor.





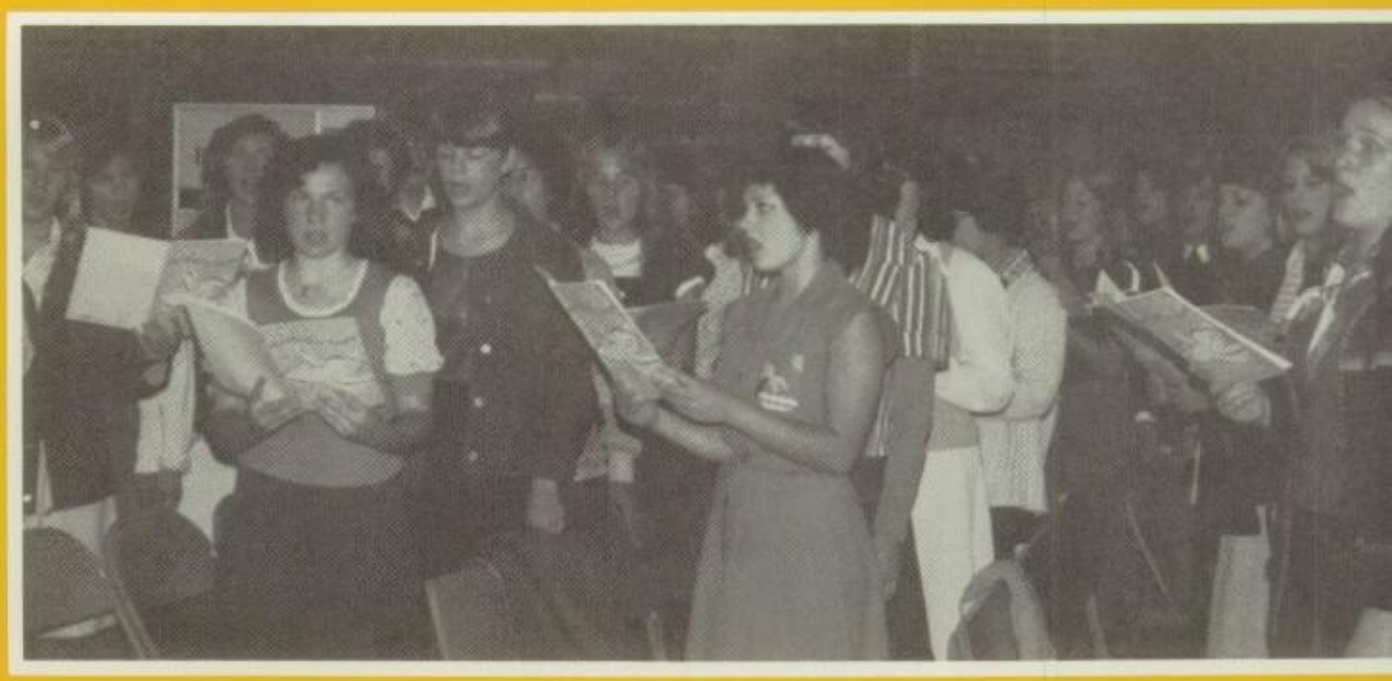


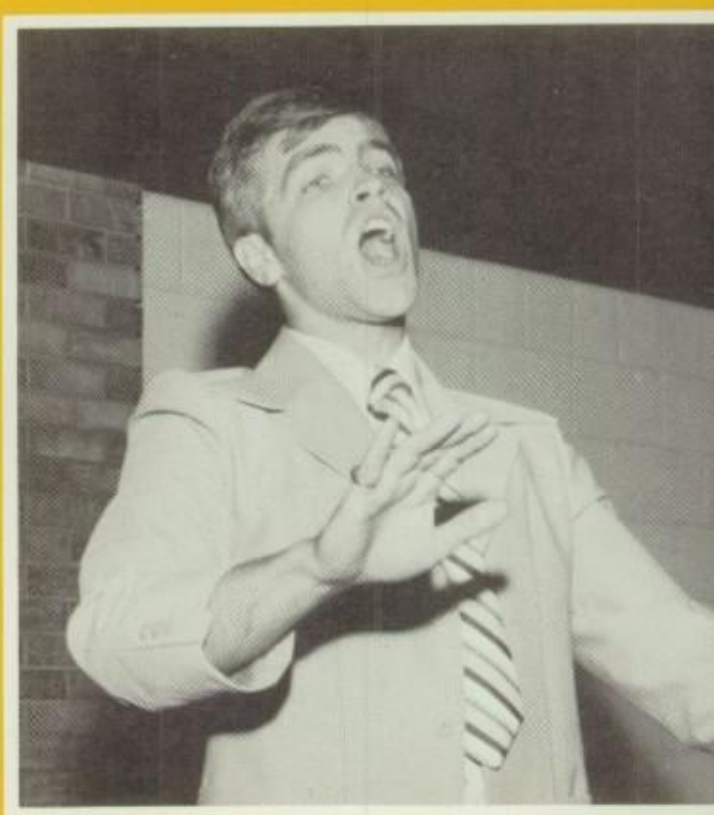
Science experiments keep class interesting

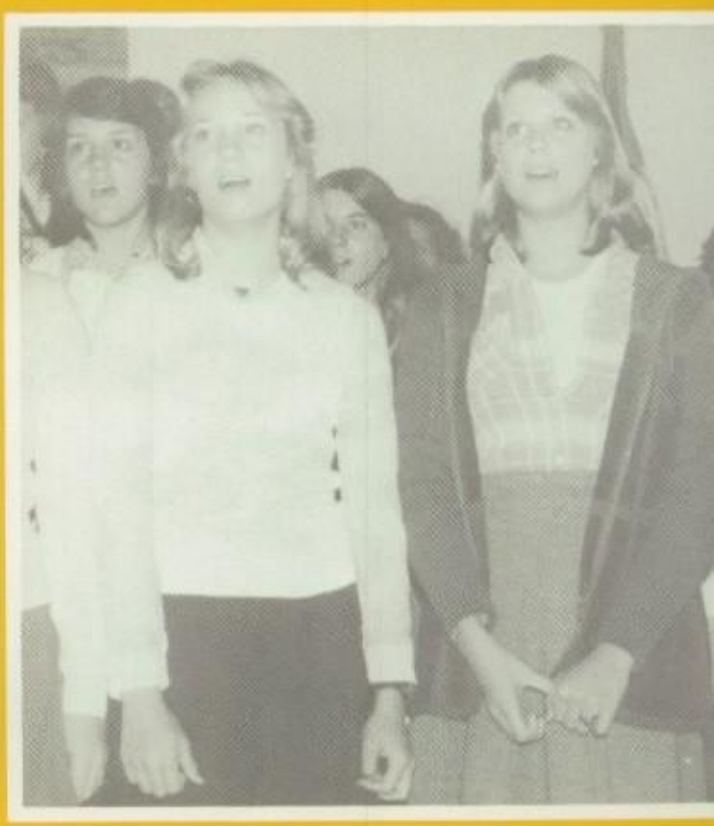
Everyone made it through science courses without being blown up by Mr. Clark's experiments or being revolted by Mr. Dierking's dissectings. The science teachers instilled in students an appreciation for God's creation and taught them how the principles and laws of science effect our lives. The physical science students learned the basics of physics, while the biology class tried to comprehend the composition of cells, and physics students tried to pass Mr. Clark's tests over the principles and laws of the physical universe.

He hath put a new song in my mouth

According to Mr. Dierking, director, the main purpose of the choir is to train voices and develop correct Christian attitudes about music. The choir spends much time in learning the basic principles of sight-reading and developing proper tone production. A secondary purpose is to be a witness of God's grace in song. The choir demonstrated that they had learned these principles well by their fine performances in the Christmas and Easter programs and at the Illinois Association of Christian Schools' annual academic meet.



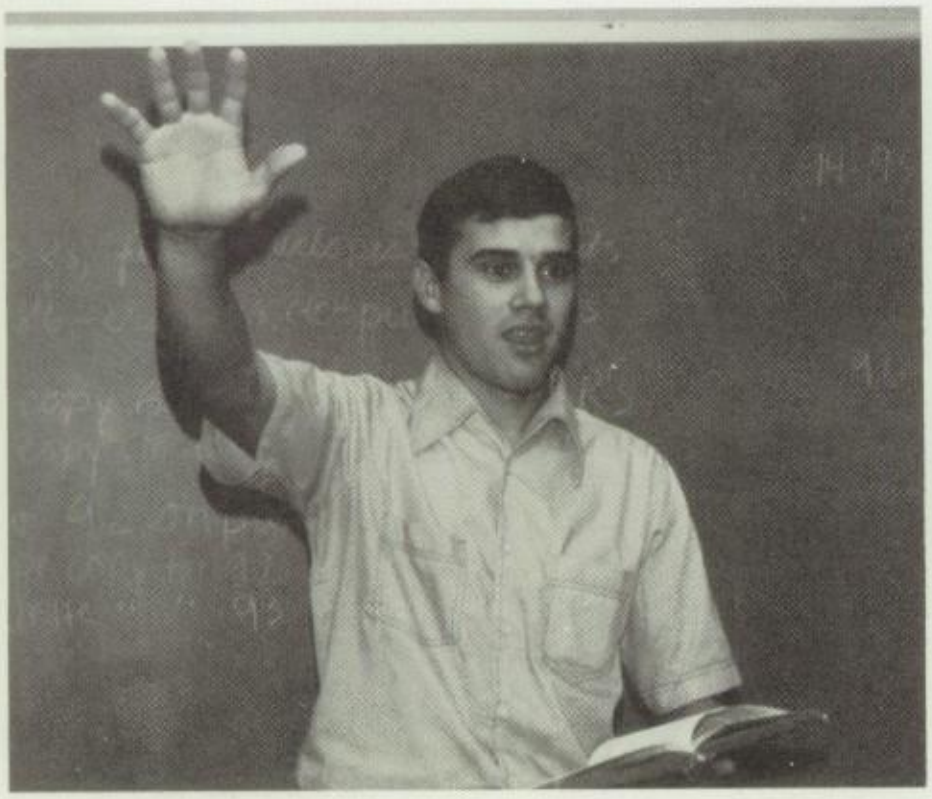


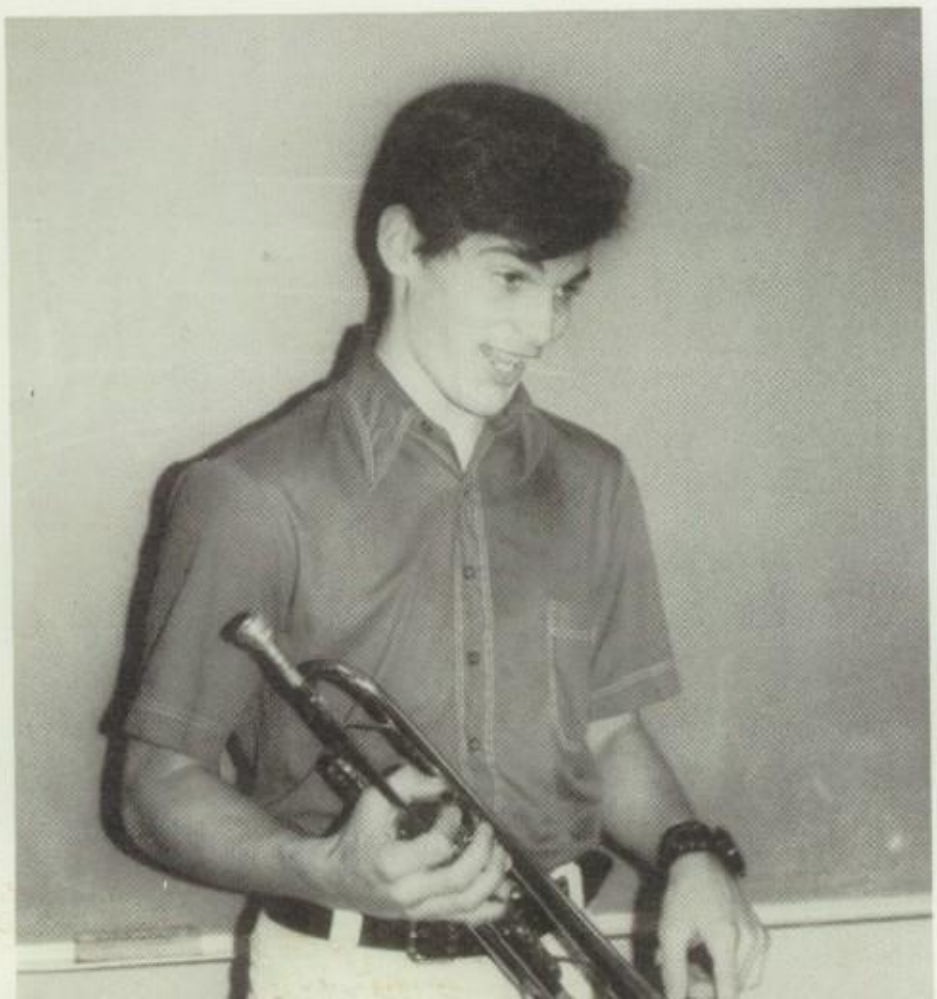


A new addition to the '77-'78 curriculum was the band, which was directed by Mr. Barnes. The primary purpose of this class is to develop the musical abilities of the students so that they will have a tool at their grasp with which they can serve Christ. The goals for the band are to have regular performances for chapel, periodic chamber ensemble performances for church, and to form a pep band to play for basketball games. The musicianship goals are to learn all the major and minor scales, to develop the ability to sight read and transpose, and to continue the development of technique, intonation, and rhythm.

Fine arts students evaluate art from a Christian view

Fine arts class is a study of music, speech, and art. Besides lectures and notes, the students enjoy listening to music, attending an opera, giving speeches, and seeing original paintings at the Chicago Art Institute. Understanding the philosophy of the arts throughout history is vitally relevant to our lives. Students learn to evaluate music and determine which types are beneficial to them mentally, emotionally, and spiritually. In fine arts, they learn to view all of the arts with a Christian philosophy.





Drama draws out the "ham"

Drama class was an exciting addition to Marquette Manor's curriculum. Mr. Harney, taking a break from his sixth graders, was the biggest "ham" of all as he directed the amateurs throughout the year. With weekly performances in class, acting games, and improvisations, the students found out how acting really works inside and out. The class attended professional plays during the year, and they attempted to imitate the actors in their own major performances.

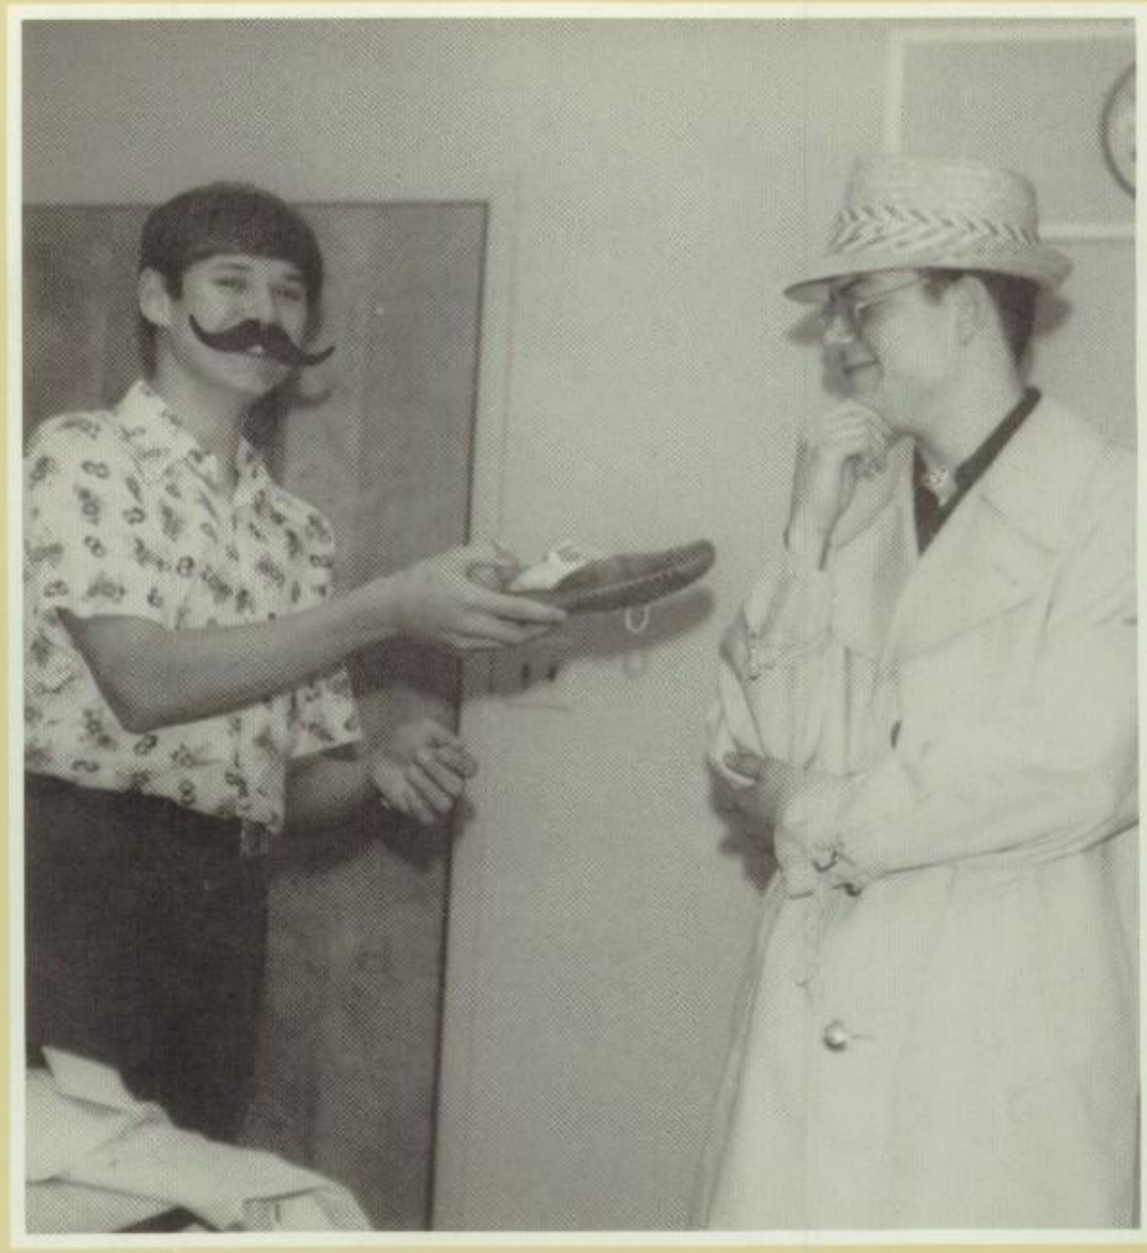
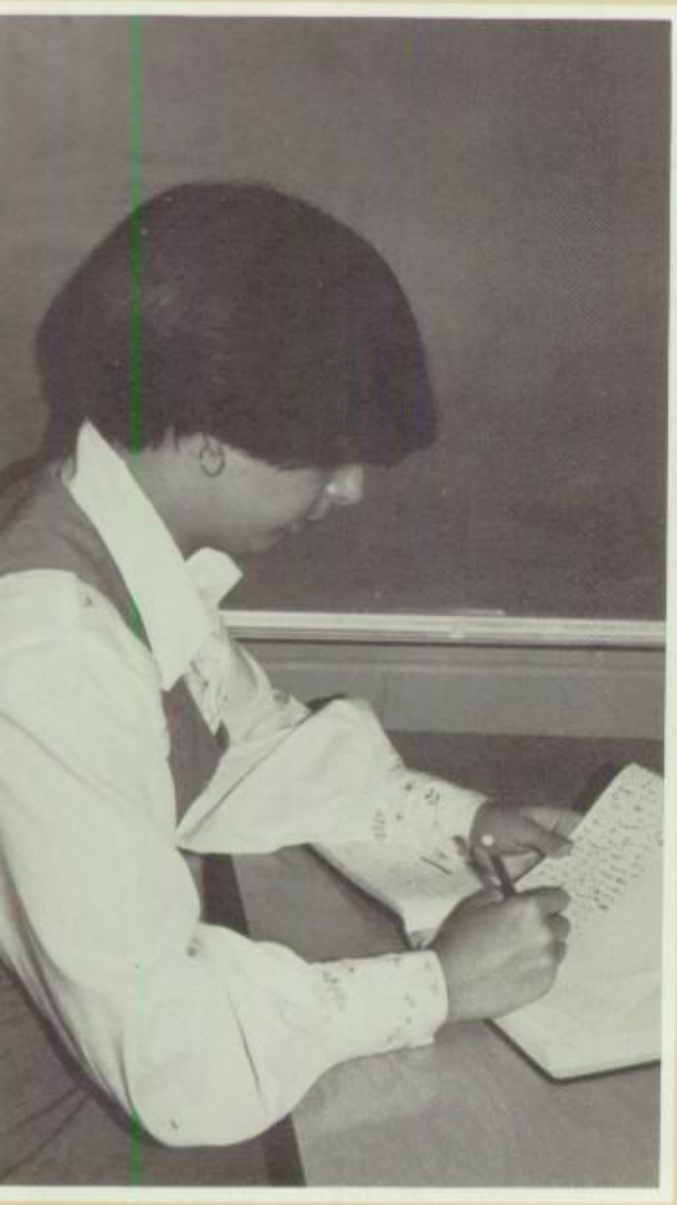
"Go ye therefore, and teach all nations ..."
— Matthew 28:19



"Wollen Sie nicht den schönen Schuh kaufen?" "Nein, er ist schrecklich!" "Aber alles ist billig!!"

"Der Hund — die Hunde, das Heft — die Hefte" are familiar sounds coming from German class as students learn to communicate in another language. Playing concentration and other games, reading the German "weekly reader", and producing original skits keep boredom from reigning in the classroom. As an addition to German, Spanish was added to our curriculum. Mr. Monteros, a native speaker, led Spanish students into the knowledge of another culture. The primary objective of foreign languages at Marquette is to equip students with the tools necessary for telling another nationality about our Lord Jesus Christ.

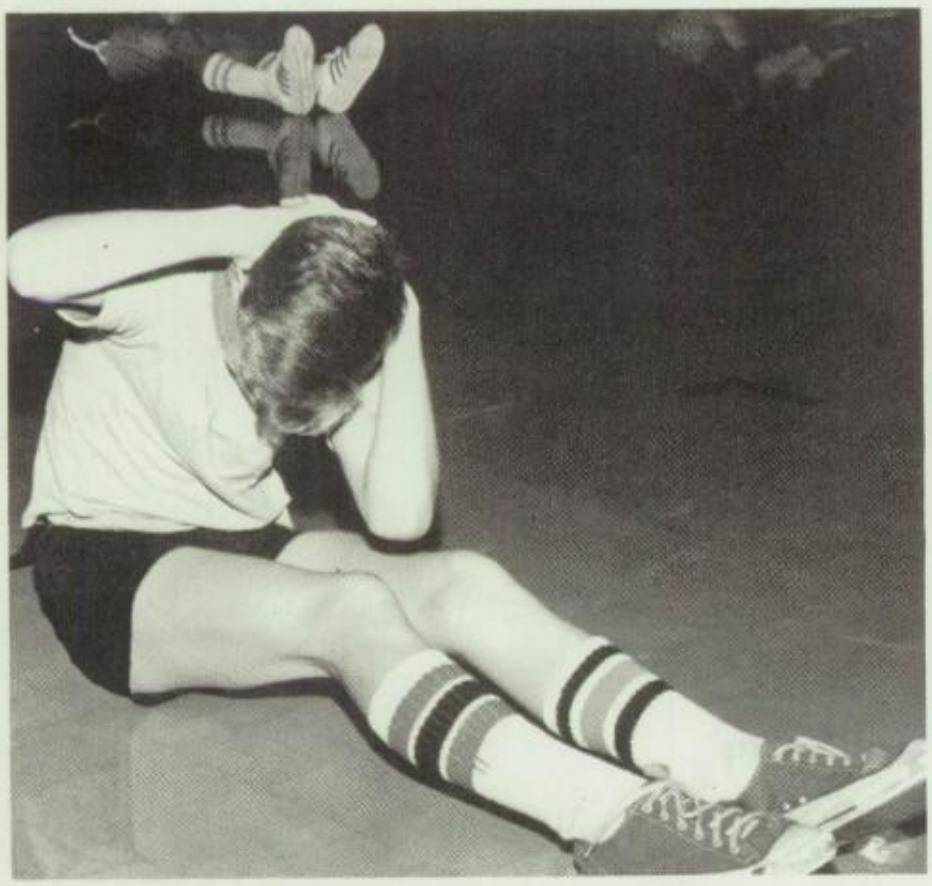
Business courses are practical for anyone

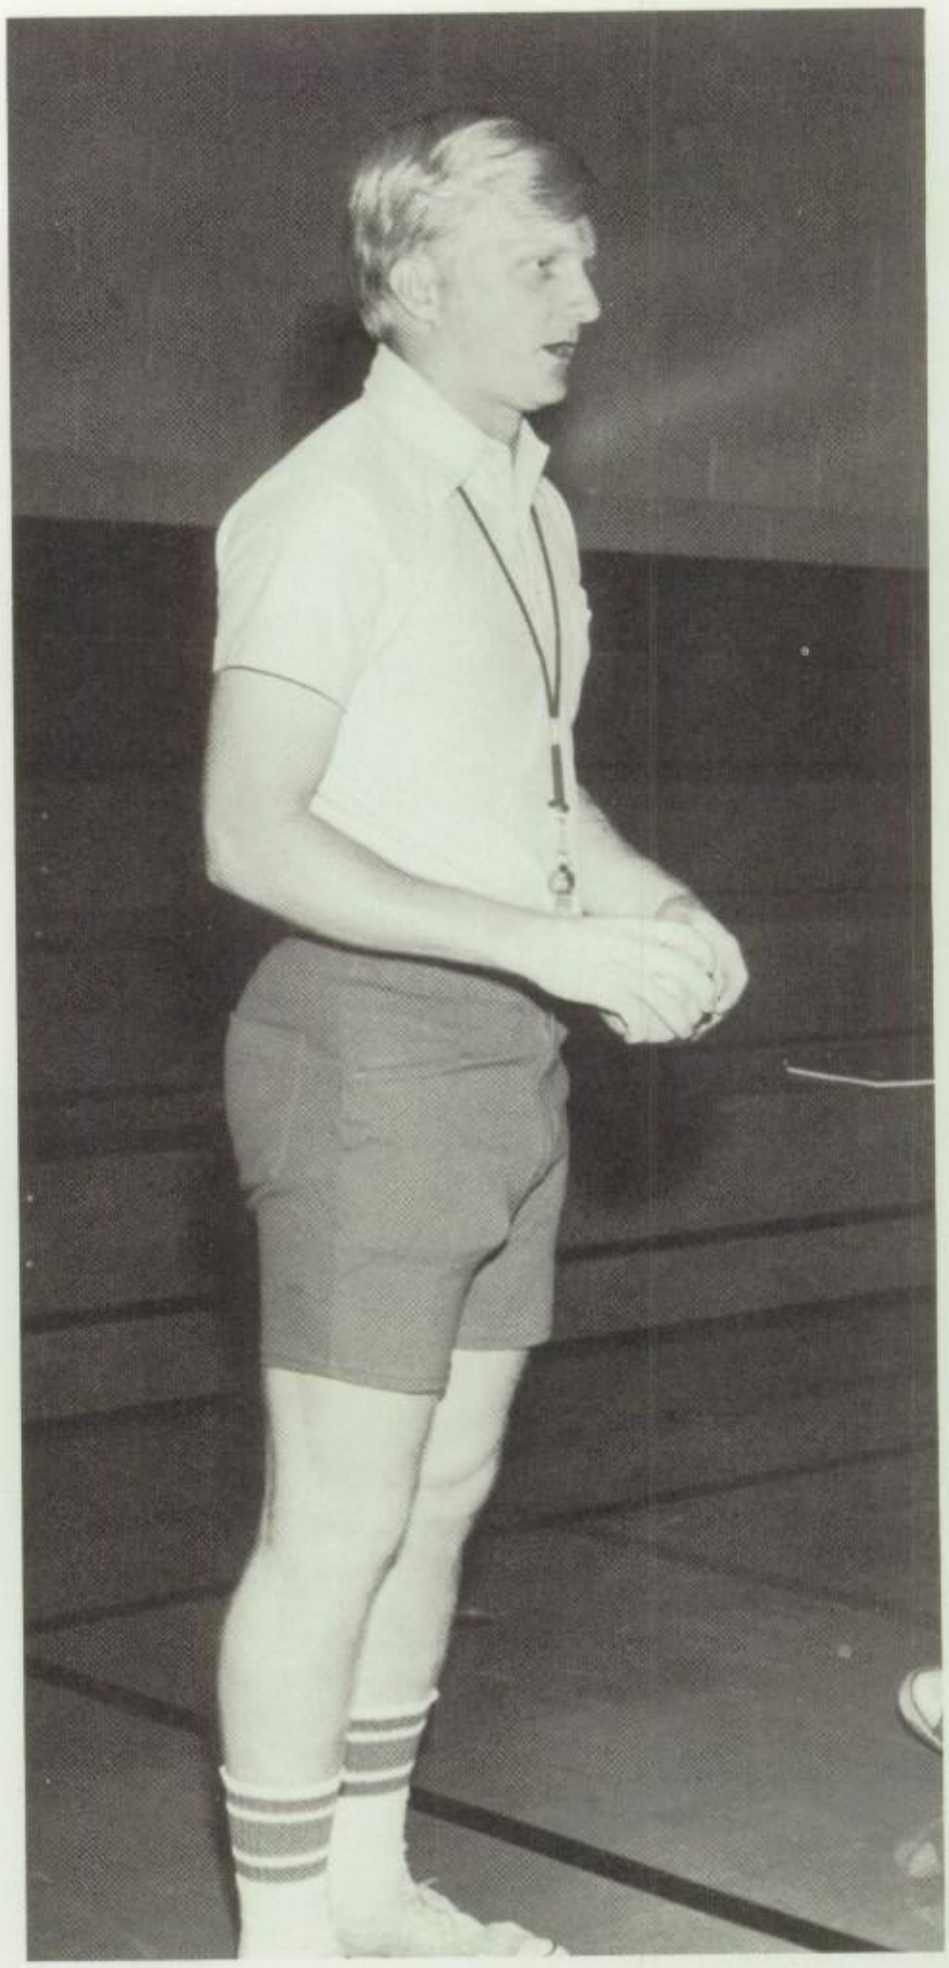


Typing and shorthand are courses which everyone will find useful. Whether a student is preparing for a business career or just needs to type his term papers and take notes rapidly, these are essential courses. While typing may be frustrating at first, students soon developed efficiency under the direction of Mrs. Ehmann, teacher.

Physical education stresses bodily exercise

P.E. is the most action-filled class a student can take. After Mr. and Mrs. Ward teach rules of different sports, the class spends a lot of time playing these sports. Exercising is a big part of the P.E. class. Although it isn't the most favored activity, it teaches students to discipline their bodies. As the Bible says, "But I keep under my body and bring it into subjection ..." (I Cor. 9:27)



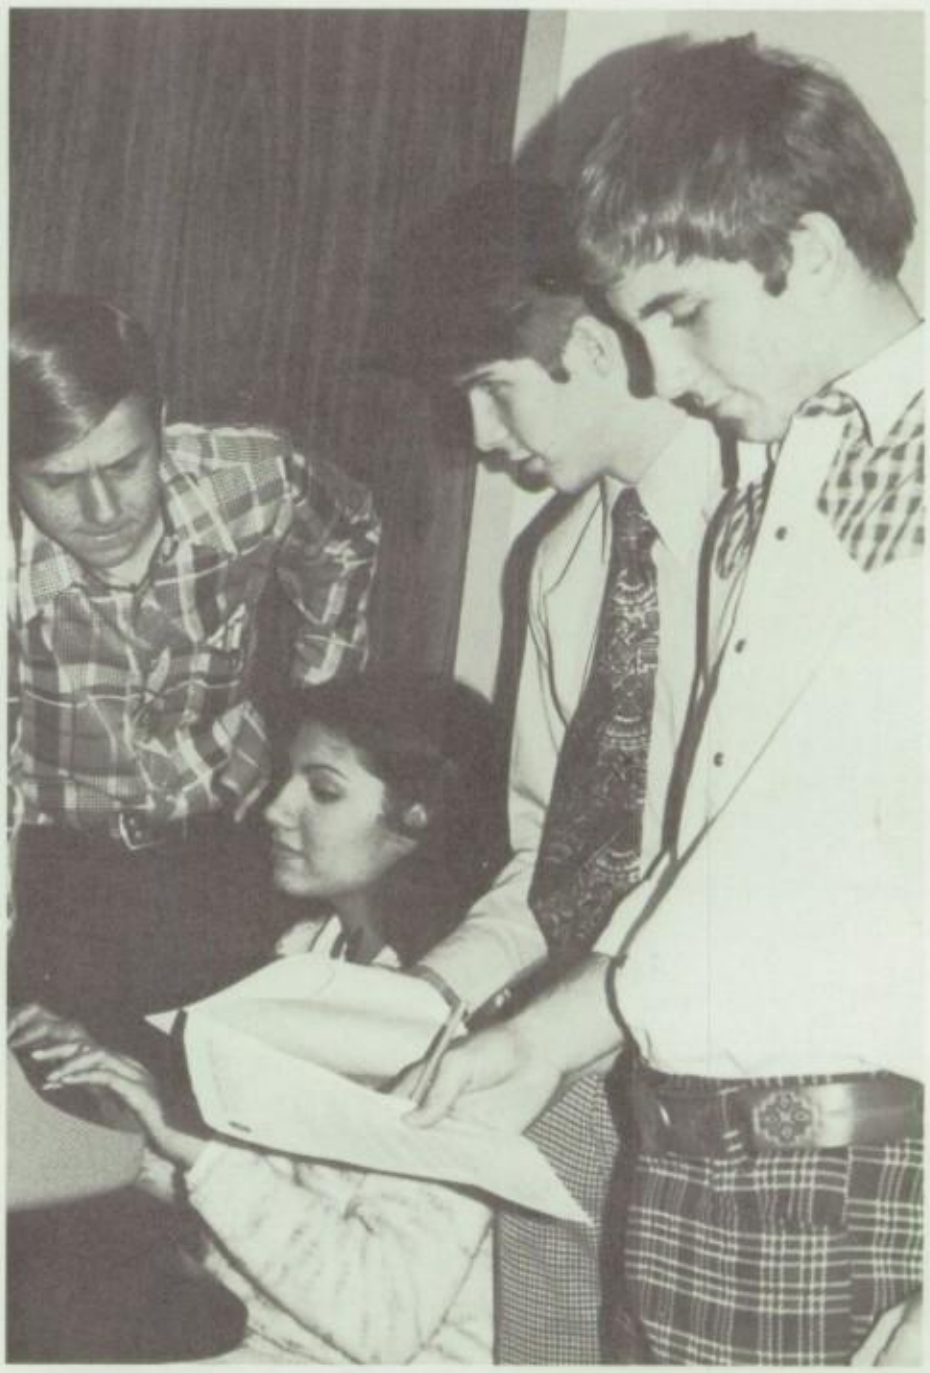


Home economics added to Marquette's curriculum

Home Ec. was a new addition to Marquette's courses. Girls learned about Christian womanhood, made crafts, and studied nutrition and meal planning. Most of these girls will probably spend a large part of their lives as wives and mothers, yet few schools train girls for this important task. At MMCS these young ladies, under the direction of Mrs. Ward, received valuable training.

Journalism students produce school publications

In journalism, students learned and worked together for a common cause: to inform and to record events for posterity. The Powderhorn staff, under the direction of Mr. Quinn, kept the student body informed through regular issues of the school newspaper. Wes Ardt and Jim Van Gelderen, editors, helped keep class running smoothly. After several weeks of classroom instruction, the Musket staff, led by Miss Hoag, learned by experience as they worked on layouts, cropped pictures, and wrote copy. Deadlines could not have been met without the teamwork of the staff. Together the two groups planned and executed a successful Musket Week. Among other duties, students had their debuts as actors: Al Boley realistically protrayed Fred in "Fred is Dead".



"Without a vision the people perish"

Pastor Van Gelderen and Mr. Wolgamott envision an atmosphere at Marquette Manor which is the best spiritually and academically for students. Our administration is constantly looking to the future and making plans to better MMCS. Among the plans which were realized this year were the week of spiritual revival at Camp Joy, the discipline committee, and the enlargement of our auditorium.

Using their lives to glorify God, these men and their wives have taught students much by their forward views and Godly examples.

TCHING

Faculty give their lives for the glory of God

The Lord calls faculty to MMCS from all corners of America: from as far north as International Falls, Minnesota; as far south as Tampa, Florida; as far east as Richmond, Virginia; and as far west as Denver, Colorado. Our teachers received their training at a variety of schools, including Bob Jones University, Baptist Bible College of Pennsylvania, University of Florida, Pillsbury Baptist College, and Purdue. Each teacher knows the Lord has called him to serve the students here at Marquette and firmly believes in offering his all to Jesus, our Lord.

Staff is essential to daily operation of school.

The office staff is busy from 8 AM until 4 PM with their various tasks which keep the school running smoothly. Filling out absence and tardy slips, calling parents, typing, arranging conferences, caring for sick children, and witnessing paddlings are only a few of Mrs. St. John's and Mrs. Dierking's duties. However, strange events, such as digging pencil lead out of a student's ankle and teaching Lennie how to sew on a button, do break the daily routine.

Mrs. Munson and Mr. Gossage handle the financial affairs of the school by keeping accounts straight and sending out and paying bills.

Mr. Laniosz, after working several hours to clean classrooms, offices, halls, and washrooms, deserves a break to put his feet up and relax with a good book.

Our busdrivers, Mrs. Barnett, Mrs. Horvath, and Mrs. Sherwood, battle traffic, rain, snow, and occasional breakdowns to get students to school on time. Without each of these individuals, MMCS could not operate efficiently.

Only one life

"Lord, I thank you for my Christian friends, and the opportunity we have to get to know each other in a Christian school. Help me, Lord, to be a good influence on my classmates, to love them with your unselfish love, and to be a friend to all. Amen"

"And this commandment have we from him, That he who loveth God love his brother also."

Seniors seek the Kingdom of God.

"Dear Lord,
We thank You for helping and guiding us through the joys and the sorrows of our school years. As we enter the conflicts of adult life, we ask for Your strength and leading in the decisions we make. We realize that without You true success cannot be attained, and emptiness cannot be filled. So many paths we will cross; direct us in choosing the right one. Many times we do not appreciate the counsel of our superiors, and especially You, Lord, we do fail. Please, Lord, help us to seriously consider what we have learned in the past so that we may grow and learn as Christians. We have only one life, Lord; let it count for You. In Your precious name, Amen."

oOH IMGAWISH WE GOT THAT JR. Power

The juniors continued their upward trend during '77-'78 with the aid of Mr. Quinn, their homeroom teacher. Being upper-classmen did not dampen their spirit and willingness to work hard. Since they have only one life to live on earth for the Lord, they want to make every moment count for Him. Wherever they may be, on the court or in the classroom, their goal is to press toward the mark for the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. (Phil. 3:14) "Only one life, 'twill soon be past; only what's done for Christ will last!"

Juniors share oneness in spirit

With oneness of spirit the juniors filled their school days with fun, victory, defeat and trials as the Lord molded each one of them so that He will be able to use them in whatever way He sees fit. As these students look back on 77-78, they will hold many precious memories in their hearts, recalling the times they shared prayer requests with friends and then watched how the Lord worked each one out. "The closer Christians get to Christ, the closer they get to one another."

The sophomores, members of the second largest class at M.M.C.H.S., are involved in cheerleading, sports, and numerous activities. Led by John Van Gelderen and Karen Hill, the sophomores worked together to develop class and school spirit. A class, however, is only as strong as its weakest member. By making major decisions of accepting Christ as Saviour or dedicating their lives to God, individuals in the Class of '80 strengthened themselves and their class.

The class of '81 did not find it hard to become accustomed to the changes encountered during their first year of high school. They entered into their activities and responsibilities willingly and enthusiastically. Participating in varsity cheerleading and varsity sports, the freshmen showed their school spirit. The class displayed much potential and personality under the leadership of representatives Helen Hernandez, Ruth Ann Novak, Don Schuetz, and Jeff Mazanec. Whether in studies, sports, or activities, these freshmen worked and played with zeal and enthusiasm.

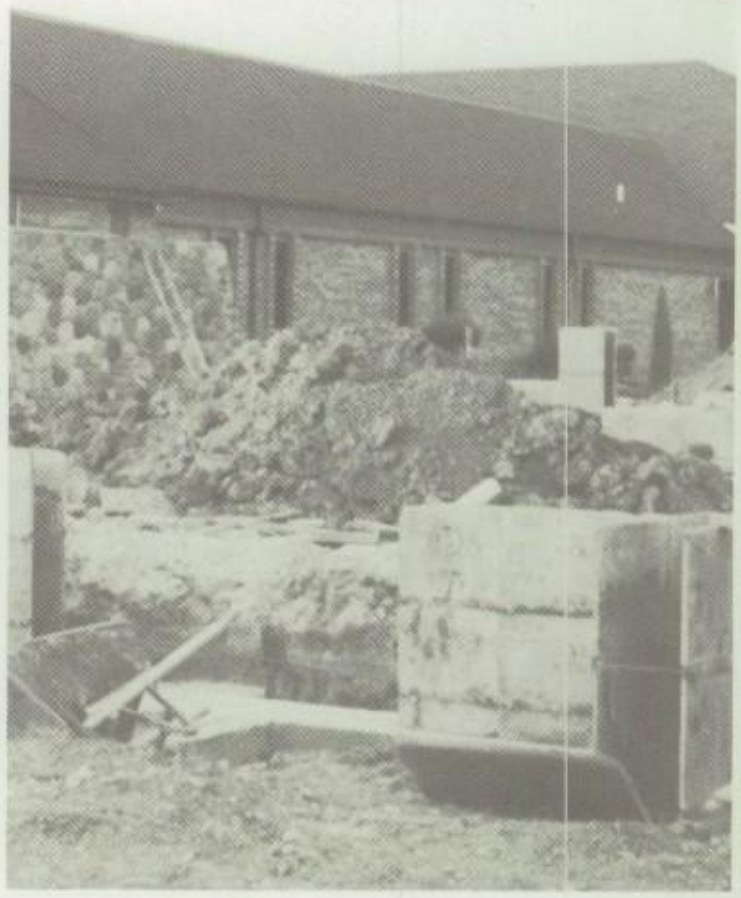
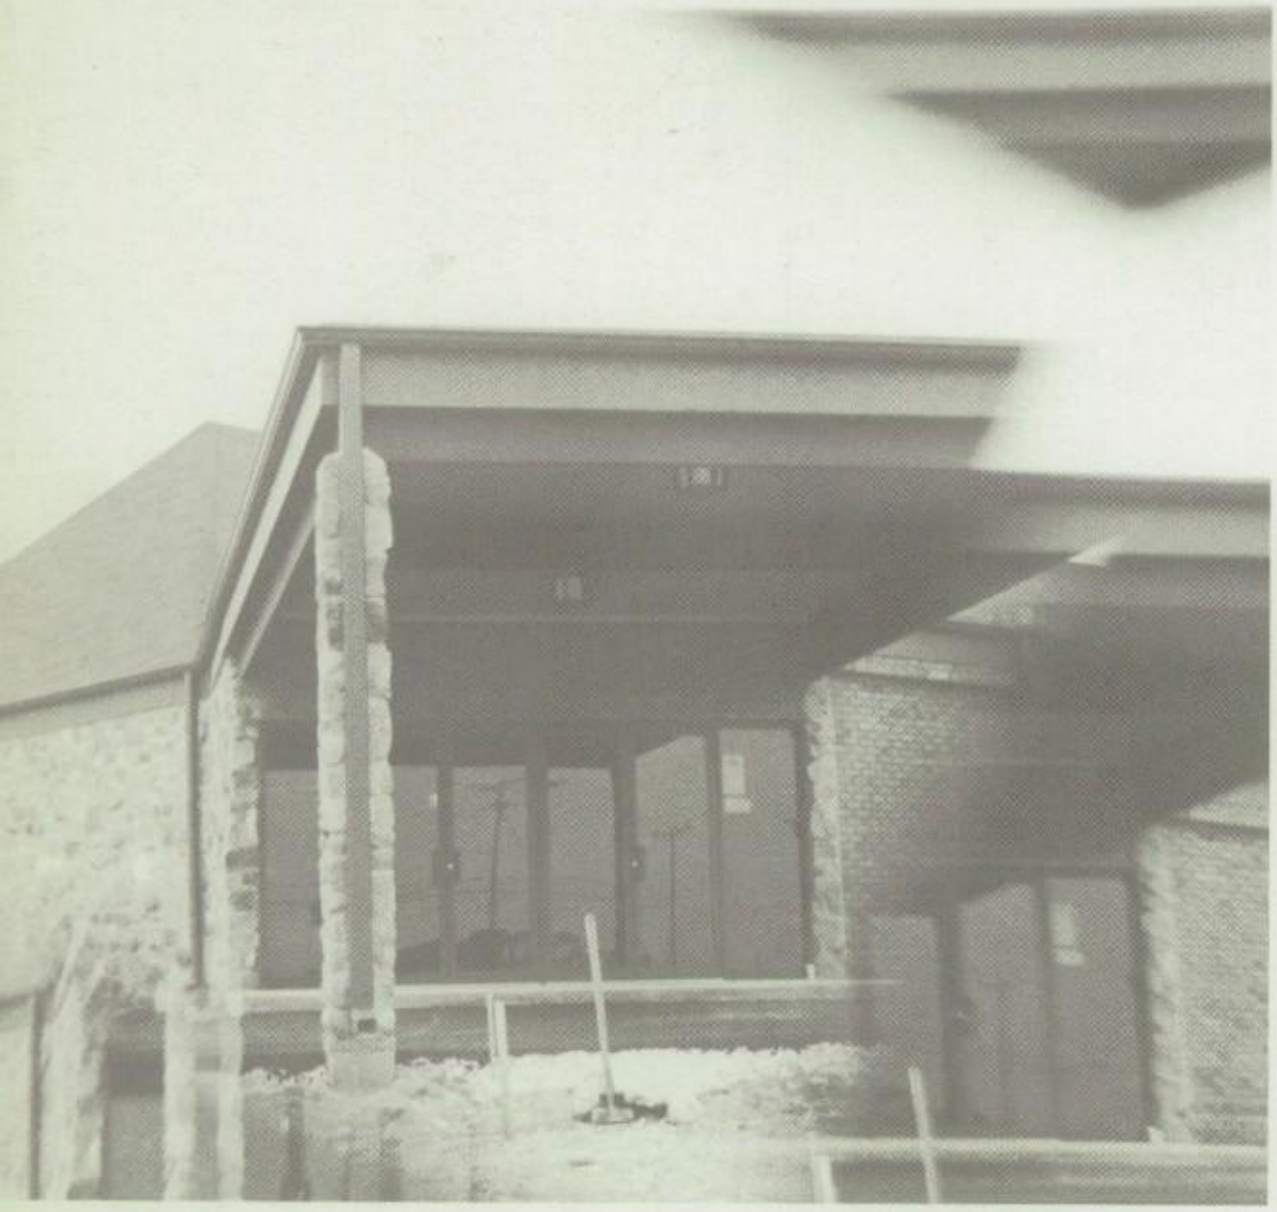
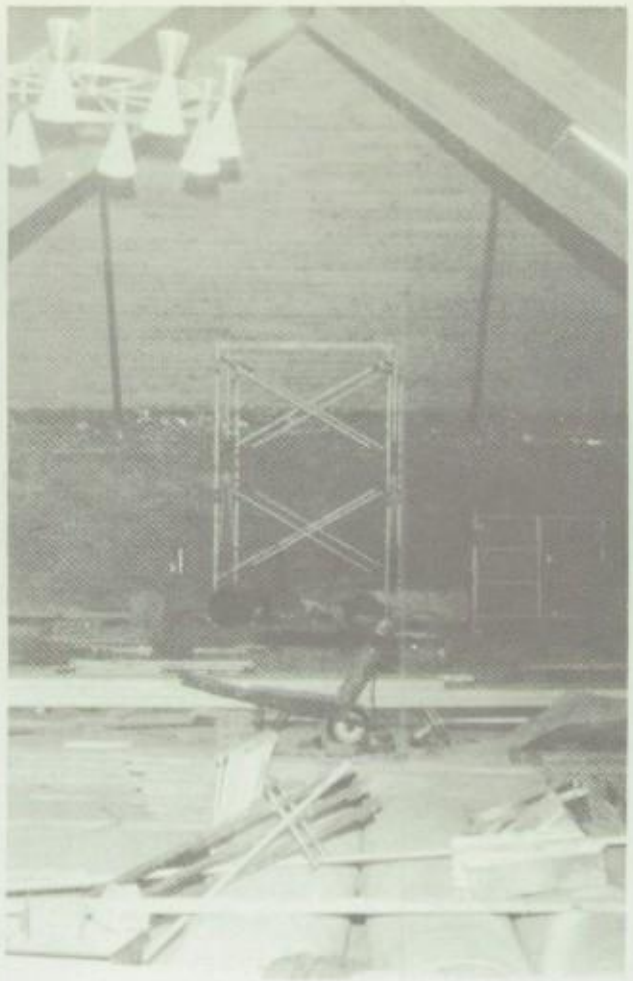
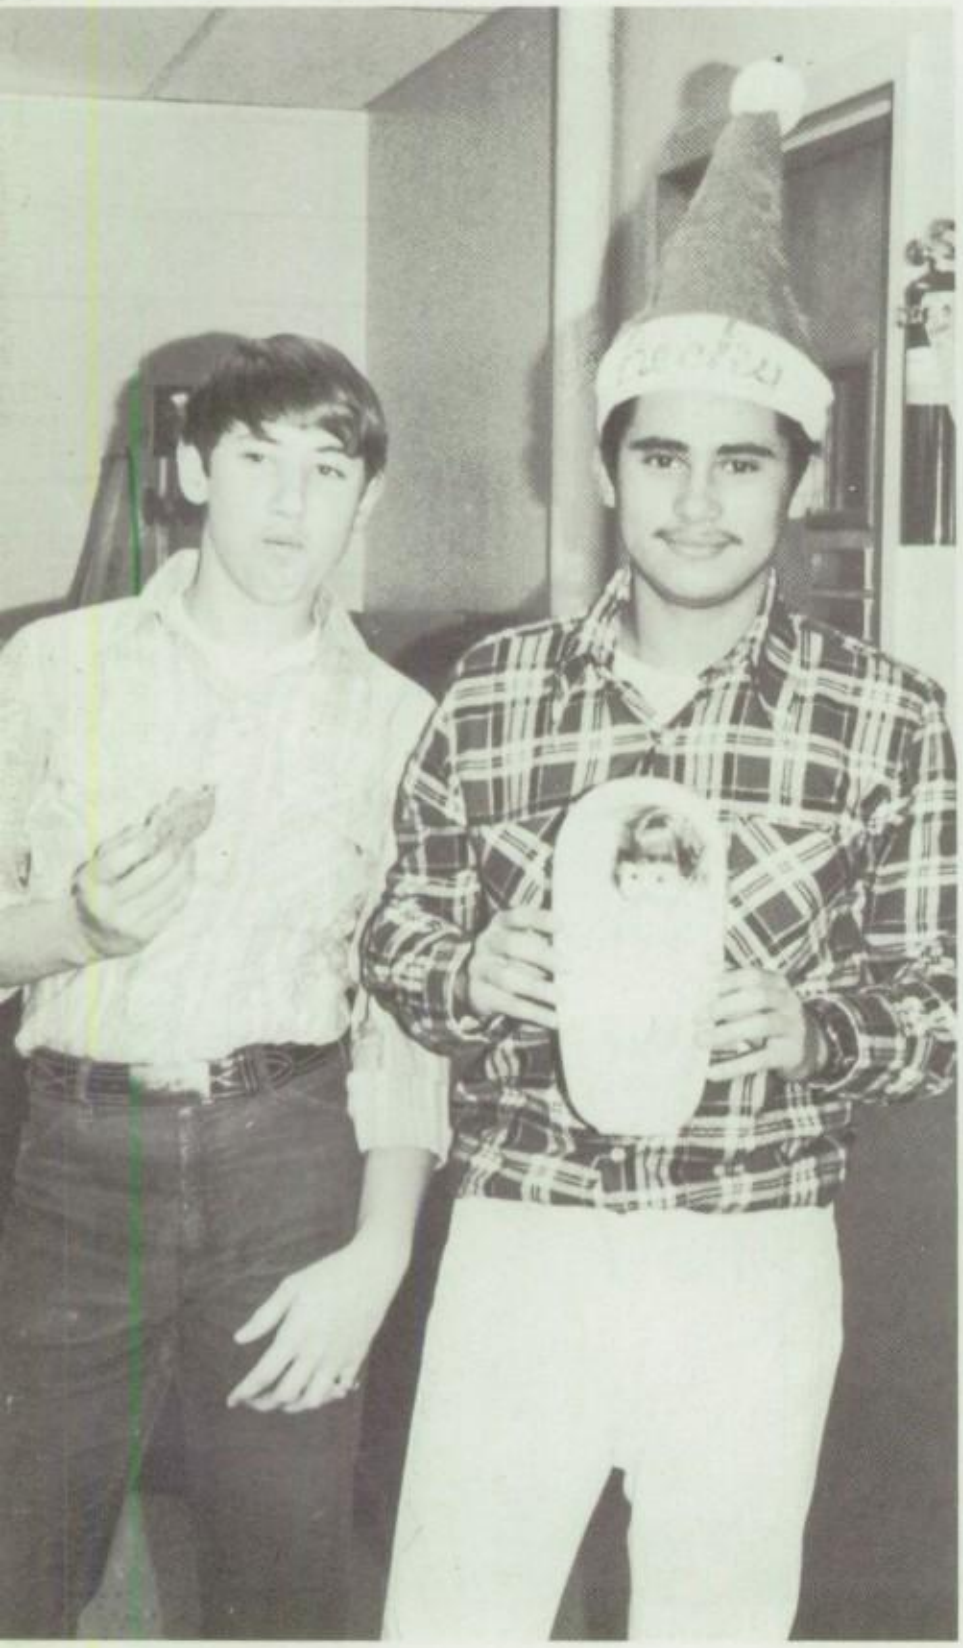
Marquette Manor is growing to serve you



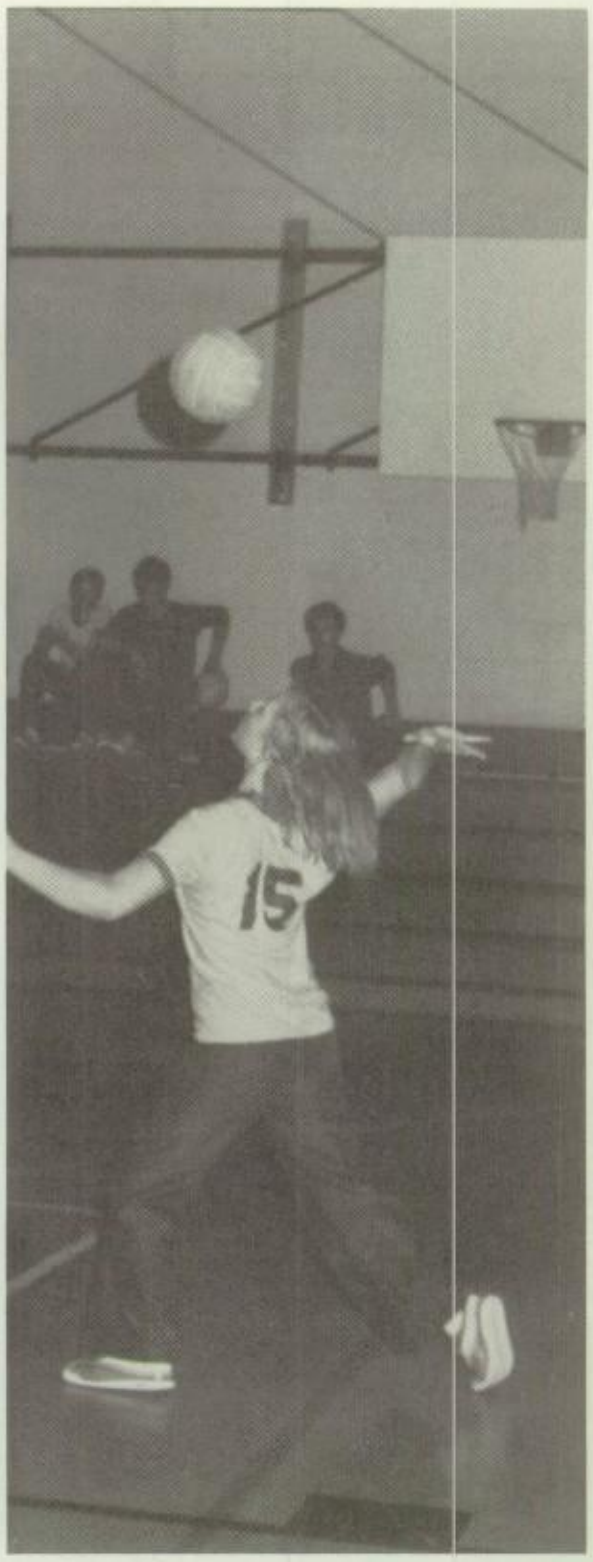




Only one life to offer Jesus my Lord and King



Only one life — will you give it fully to Jesus?



In many ways the '77-'78 school year was the best ever. In sports we were number one in the state in soccer and wrestling. In fine arts we had the best Christian high school choir in the nation. In academics the Stanford Achievement Tests showed that we placed well above the national norm in all areas. In social activities Camp Week was a thrill, and the Seniors made it to London. Yet, all these accomplishments mean nothing to God, compared to one young person who will yield himself fully to the Saviour. That is the goal of Marquette Manor Christian School-to see every student give his life to Jesus, our Lord.

Missy: (my love)
I still seriously believe that we will go skiing together in the future; you ~~will~~ watch & see.
and maybe someday you will learn how to play the flute with your leg in the air. Stay out of trouble.
Love Dad

Missy
I don't like to write to much stuff in girls ~~your~~ books, on the grounds it may incriminate me, So I'll just put down what I always put (my name)

Missy,
I guess, since I had about a week to think about what to write
I should be able to write a page.
But believe me, if you want me to write a page, it will take me till NEXT spring! Well I hope you have a good year, and make sure you don't get in trouble too much this year.
Dave
(how's that, it only took me
3 hours, 17 minutes and 34 seconds)!!!!

Dear Missy,
You are one of my closest friends & I love you dearly. You're really crazy & we've had a lot of fun times together. I think this year is gonna be better though. We only have one more year. It kinda makes me sad that way. Missy good luck in whatever you do & stay the same sweet way.

Love ya,
Lisa
